[illegible] SARSAPARILLA has demonstrated [illegible] of cure for all diseases of the blood.

The Harpooner's Story.

[illegible] Bedford, June 1, 1883

J. C. AYER & Co.—Twenty years ago I [illegible] harpooner in the North Pacific, when five of the crew and myself were laid up with [illegible]. Our bodies were bloated, gums swollen [illegible] bleeding, teeth loose, purple blotches all [illegible], and our breath seemed rotten. Take it [illegible] large we were pretty badly off. All our [illegible] was accidentally destroyed, but the [illegible] had a couple dozen bottles of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA and gave us that. We recovered on it quicker than I have ever seen men [illegible] about by any other treatment for Scurvy, [illegible] seen a good deal of it. Seeing no mention in your Almanac of your Sarsaparilla being [illegible] for scurvy, I thought you ought to know of [illegible] and so send you the facts.

[illegible] respectfully yours, RALPH V. WINGATE.

The Trooper's Experience.

Basutoland (S. Africa,) March 7, 1883.

J. C. AYER & Co.—Gentlemen: I have [illegible] pleasure to testify to the great value of [illegible] Sarsaparilla. We have been stationed [illegible] over two years, during which time we [illegible] live in tents. Being under canvas for [illegible] time brought on what is called in this [illegible] "veldt-sores." I had those sores for [illegible] me. I was advised to take your Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which made the sores [illegible] rapidly, and I am now quite well.

THE DOUBTFUL FIGHT

The Very Latest Returns in Favor of Cleveland

A MAJORITY ON THE COUNT

But it is not yet Officially Completed and may be Subject to Change—All Hinges on New York

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Cleveland's majority in New York city is 43,333, and in King's county, Brooklyn, 15,570.

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov 6.—The official vote [illegible] Cayuga county gives Blaine [illegible], Cleveland 6041, Butler 4[illegible]0, St John 582.

CALDWELL, N. Y., Nov 9.—The official vote of Warren county is as follows: Cleveland 279[illegible], Blaine 3577, Butler 179, St John 123.

TROY, N. Y., Nov 6.—The official count of Saratoga county gives Blaine 8100, Cleveland 5793, St John 425, Butler 91.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov 6.—Rockland county official vote: Cleveland 3637, Blaine 2593.

TROY, N. Y., Nov 6.—Official vote of Rensselaer county: Blaine 13,759, Cleveland 1[illegible], Butler 707, St John 416.

WATKINS, Nov 6.—Schuyler county gives Blaine 3016, Cleveland 20[illegible], Butler 11, St John 154.

RIVER HEAD, L. I., Nov 6.—Cleveland's official majority in Suffolk county is 692.

UTICA, Nov 6.—Oneida county officially gives Cleveland 1[illegible],820, Blaine 13,792, St John 8[illegible], Butler 188, scattering two.

RONDOUT, Nov 6.—Ulster county complete gives Blaine 80 majority.

CORTLAND, N. Y., Nov 6.—Cortland county officially is as follows: Blaine, 4012; Cleveland [illegible]70; Butler 112; St John 1[illegible].

Rensselaer county official increases Blaine's vote 128. Monroe county official increases his vote 2[illegible]. This makes Cleveland's lead on the state 1[illegible]130.

Gov. Cleveland and the democratic committee have received special dispatches showing democratic gain, which they claim will give them the state.

FROM VARIOUS POINTS

DELHI, N. Y., Nov 6.—The vote of Delaware county is as follows: Blaine [illegible]321, Cleveland [illegible], St John 47, Butler 112.

WATERTOWN, Nov 6.—The official vote of Jefferson county gives Blaine 9029, Cleveland 7081, St. John 634, Butler 38.

ITHACA, Nov 6.—The official vote of Tompkins county gives Blaine 4120, Cleveland 3992, Butler 378, St John 267.

PLATTSBURG, Nov 6.—The official vote of Clinton county gives Blaine [illegible]479, Cleveland [illegible], Butler 18, St John 38.

DANSVILLE, Nov 6.—The vote of Livingston county is as follows: Blaine 5[illegible], Cleveland 4009, Butler 1[illegible]7, St. John 367.

LOCKPORT, Nov 6.—The official vote of Niagara county gives Blaine 5874, Cleveland 6193.

BUFFALO, Nov 6.—The complete official count of Erie county gives Blaine 26,247, Cleveland [illegible], Butler 262, St John 738.

ROCHESTER, Nov 6.—Official returns from Ontario county give Blaine 6682, Cleveland 5611, Butler 127, St John 2[illegible]3.

ELMIRA, Nov 6.—Thirteen guns were fired in this city this afternoon, in honor of the election of Governor Cleveland. Democrats are jubilant.

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Westchester county, complete—Cleveland 12,67[illegible], Blaine 11,2[illegible]. Cleveland's plurality, 388.

PORT JERVIS, Nov 6.—Orange county, complete, gives Blaine 127 majority.

ROCHESTER, Nov 6.—Monroe county, official—Blaine 18,5[illegible]5, Cleveland 13,[illegible]19, St John 1,[illegible], Butler 2[illegible]0.

ELMIRA, Nov 6.—Chemung county official—Blaine 1[illegible]9, Cleveland 4720.

PROGRESS OF THE COUNT

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Eighteen hundred and ninety-five election districts outside of New York and Brooklyn give Blaine 404,0[illegible], Cleveland 3[illegible]0,3[illegible]9, Butler 10,889, St John 20,72[illegible]; net democratic gain, 15,067.

Total returns so far received from New York, with [illegible] election districts to hear from, give Blaine 5[illegible]2,8[illegible]1, Cleveland 5[illegible]2,2[illegible]; republican plurality, 61.

This includes every county in the state, and corrections of figures heretofore received. Corrections are made upon comparison to official returns from various counties.

In New York state there are yet to be heard from 53 election districts, which in 1880 gave Garfield pluralities aggregating 2670, and Hancock pluralities aggregating 8[illegible]2. These districts are situated in the following counties: Allegheny, Cattaraugus, Duchess, Livingston, Madison, Montgomery, Essex, Oneida, Otsego, St. Lawrence, Schoharie, Schuyler, Steuben, Sullivan and Westchester. The republican plurality in the state, with the 53 districts to hear from, is [illegible].

THE VERY LATEST

NEW YORK, Nov 5.—The following corrections have been made in previous footings, on account of the reception of official figures from Cayuga, Tompkins, Herkimer, Oneida and Ontario counties, which give a republican gain of 7[illegible] and democratic gain of 191. The total republican vote, with 41 districts to hear from, is 5[illegible]4,[illegible]; democratic, [illegible]4,607; republican plurality, 15.

[illegible]—Returns from all election districts in the state but 25 give 5[illegible]7,084 republican votes, and [illegible]6[illegible] democratic. Republican plurality, 4[illegible]2.

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Returns from all election districts in the state but twelve give 5[illegible]8,[illegible]88 republican votes, to 557,[illegible]20 democratic votes, 968 republican plurality.

Nov [illegible], 12:10 A. M.—Official returns from Albany county reduce the republican plurality by 328, which now leaves it at 640, with twelve districts in the state to be heard from.

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Returns from all election districts of the state but twelve give 558,[illegible] republican votes, and 557,854 democratic votes, a republican plurality of 514.

The official returns for Queens county reduce the republican plurality in the state to 371, and the twelve districts yet to hear from.

Other returns from Westchester county give a democratic gain over previous figures of 488. This makes Cleveland's plurality in the state 117.

[At a late hour the following bulletin was received, which is given for what it is worth. It is badly mixed, as regards figures, and may all be wrong.]

NEW YORK, Nov [illegible]—[illegible] A. M.—The official vote [illegible] cuts down Blaine's plurality by districts, and indicates that Cleveland will have a plurality in the state.

The official vote in fifty-six counties gives pluralities for Blaine of [illegible],84 and for Cleveland [illegible]. An estimate on the four counties [illegible] gives pluralities for Blaine of 1314 and 48[illegible] for Cleveland, which would give Cleveland a net plurality in the state of [illegible].

FRIDAY—1:30 A. M.—Hon. Joseph Simon, chairman of the republican state committee, has just received a telegram from Secretary Fessenden of the national republican committee, stating that "We think Blaine has carried New York by [illegible] plurality."

CLEVELAND 1000 AHEAD

NEW YORK, [illegible] A. M.—Official county returns and very close figures in twelve counties which have not been officially reported, indicate that Cleveland's plurality reaches nearly 1000 in the state. The official returns show heavy democratic gains.

A STATEMENT FOR A FAIR COUNT

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The following address has been issued:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE, NEW YORK, Nov 6.

[illegible] national committee [illegible] warrant [illegible] election of Blaine and [illegible] have carried every [illegible] except New Jersey and [illegible] given a [illegible] cause and ticket [illegible] that West Virginia [illegible] states are still in [illegible] states gone, however, [illegible] electoral vote [illegible]. In New York attempts to tamper with returns have already been detected. The actual vote cast in New York city, Kings county and 1502 other election precincts give, at the utmost, only 148 plurality to Grover Cleveland, while 163 precincts not yet heard from gave 2171 plurality to Garfield. There is, therefore, no ground for doubt that the honest vote of the state has been given to the republican candidates, and though the defeated candidate for the presidency is at the head of the election machinery in this state, the democratic party, which has notoriously been the party of fraud in elections for years, will not be permitted to thwart the will of the people. The national republican committee calls on the chairmen and individual members of all county committees to take the promptest and most stringent means to protect the sanctity of the ballot. The republican candidates have been honestly elected, beyond question, and any attempt to cheat the people and to defeat their will thus expressed at the polls must be sternly exposed and resisted by every law respecting citizen. B. F. JONES, Chairman. SAMUEL FESSENDEN, Secretary.

A DEMOCRATIC CRY

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The Evening News publishes the following conspicuously: "We believe it to be our duty to caution friends of Blaine that any attempt to subvert the will of the people by tampering with the returns will be perilous. The people, in case of fraud in the returns, could not be restrained. As much as we deprecate violence, we fear turbulence and bloodshed would result. Beware!"

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The Post says the following call for a mass meeting of citizens will be issued this afternoon:

HEADQUARTERS CLEVELAND AND HENDRICKS CAMPAIGN CLUBS COMMITTEES, Stephens House, N. Y., Nov 6, 1884.

Cleveland and Hendricks have been elected president and vice-president of the United States, but evidence accumulates that a scheme exists to defeat the will of the people by fraudulent count and false returns. Citizens of New York who demand an honest count and honest returns are invited to assemble on Wall street, in front of the Washington statue, at half past [illegible] o'clock to-morrow, Friday, afternoon, to take such action as the emergency shall require.

This call will be signed by the presidents of Cleveland and Hendricks campaign clubs of all the business exchanges, and by many other prominent citizens.

MEETING OF CLEVELAND MEN

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Delegates from the business men's Cleveland and Hendricks club that paraded November 1 held a private meeting at the Stevens house this afternoon. Senator Jones of the democratic national committee was present. G. A. Sullivan of the produce exchange presided. Nearly every man present made a speech. The general tenor of the addresses was to the effect that Cleveland had been elected and that the republicans would cheat their opponents out of the victory if they could. Resolutions offered by Oscar S. Strauss of the pottery and glassware trade continuing the organization in existence until the vote of the people was honestly counted, and instituting an executive committee to confer with the democratic national committee to take such other and further action as to them shall seem proper, and shall promptly and effectually prevent any possibility of falsifying the election returns were adopted.

The contemplated mass meeting on Wall street to-morrow was postponed sine die.

MUCH BITTERNESS MANIFESTED

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Political feeling on the streets has been intense ever since the election and is now rapidly assuming a tone of bitterness. Good nature seems to be vanishing, and trouble may arise. The entire police of the city are on duty, and a reserve is held at the stations in each precinct.

Newspaper offices are infested by crowds of people, and travel and traffic is greatly impeded. Cleveland men throng about the Times, World and Evening Post, the Blaineites besiege the Tribune, Commercial, Mail and Express, while people of all politics and no politics surround the Sun. Favoring bulletins are loudly cheered by partisans, and adverse announcements call forth groans and hisses, with exclamations of "fraud," [illegible] out and "tampering with the returns." There is a repetition of the interest in returns and excitement attending their reception which marked the Hayes-Tilden election.

GREAT CROWDS IN THE STREETS

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The newspaper offices are still besieged with gaping and shouting crowds, eager to devour every bulletin as it appears, and wait for more satisfaction from the next. On Tuesday and Wednesday evening the large majorities that were promised by both parties evoked free and boisterous rejoicing of the masses, who were led to believe the contest was all one-sided, but to-night returns have been received from nearly every election district in the state, and only close figures are made. The aspect of the crowds that hang on the bulletins is that of pent up, intense excitement. The night was bitterly cold for the season, but men who had shouted themselves hoarse on one side and the other thought not of the weather or of their own discomfort. The good humored bluff, guff and bluster of Tuesday and Wednesday nights have taken a fierce aspect to-night, and the feeling of easy victory on both sides has given place to a manifest feeling of discontent. "Republican trickery, and vengeance" was a conspicuous line on one of the placards. Other such announcements and accusations tending to stir up popular feeling were hung out to the public gaze.

CONTRADICTING BULLETINS

Up to a pretty advanced hour in the evening the Tribune and Mail and Express kept issuing bulletins promising republican triumph, the Mail and Express issued an edition at 10 o'clock showing a republican plurality of 5[illegible]2.

As returns showing a continued plurality for Blaine were being received in the Tribune office the bulletin maker there posted "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine;" and the crowd shouted vociferously. The crowd around the Times was very great. Indeed, the Tribune, the Times and the Sun crowds were merged, and it would be difficult to tell where one ended and the other began. "Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine," was quickly met by the following cry:

Ma, ma, where's my pa?
Gone to the White House. Ha, ha, ha!

Great cheering followed. The Herald and the World continued to show a large, though considerably reduced majority for Cleveland. The Herald's latest bulletin at 10 o'clock stated that returns from Albany up to that hour showed Cleveland 800 ahead in the state, and the crowd which filled the street in front of the building continued to cheer that announcement again and again.

ALBANY DEMOCRATS ENTHUSING

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov 6.—There is still intense excitement over the result of the presidential election. The feeling of suspense is gradually giving way to one of confidence and gladness on the part of the democrats, who began to jubilate this afternoon. They are now firing 100 guns in honor of the election of Grover Cleveland. The governor has been closeted with his private secretary this morning. All advices received by the governor point unmistakably to his election. Congratulatory telegrams are continually pouring in, and at 2 o'clock a message was received from the democratic committee, assuring Governor Cleveland of his election and congratulating him on the result.

Mayor Harris [illegible] this morning [illegible] democratic majority [illegible].

Advices [illegible] are to the effect that West Virginia is now certain to go democratic, [illegible] to the breeze [illegible] building [illegible] and the democrats [illegible] preparing for a general jubilee.

The [illegible] figures that plurality [illegible] will be necessary.

MANNING CLAIMS THE STATE

ALBANY, Nov 6.—Daniel Manning, chairman of the democratic state committee, has sent the following to the New York [illegible]: "Both official [illegible] from every county, Cleveland and Hendricks [illegible] New York state [illegible]. No machination or [illegible]. The friends [illegible] democratic [illegible] will see that he [illegible]. DANIEL MANNING.

[illegible] ALBANY, Nov [illegible]—In an interview to-night, [illegible] Manning said: "I think Cleveland has carried New York by 1500 plurality."

The Argus says: "No fraudulent commission will be let put James G. Blaine in the White House or keep Grover Cleveland out of it. The man who attempts it will be killed and the legal con[illegible] sequences of killing them will take care of themselves."

[illegible] Cleveland said: "I believe I have been elected president and nothing but the [illegible] keep me [illegible] of it and that we will not [illegible]."

General Carr, secretary of state and republican, says: "There is no chance of stealing this state so far as long as I have charge of the affair. I don't propose that anybody shall steal the state. If Mr. Cleveland has a plurality, large or small, he will get it. The same is true of the other candidate. I don't propose to play any Southern game. No matter who has it, if it is found [illegible] will [illegible] his justice."

HOW THE VOTE WILL BE CANVASSED

ALBANY, Nov 6.—The Albany Journal this evening says: On Tuesday the boards of supervisors meet in the various cities and canvass the returns. Their duties are purely clerical. They simply add the total returns of the towns and election districts and wards, certify to their accuracy and transmit the certified returns to the secretary of state. During this month the state board of canvassers, consisting of Secretary Carr, Comptroller Chapin, Attorney General O'Brien, State Treasurer Maxwell and State Engineer Sweet, meet in this city and add up the totals of the supervisors' returns from the counties, and the result of the official vote of the state, and according to that result certificates of election are issued by the state board to the presidential electors who have been chosen.

AT BUFFALO

BUFFALO, Nov 6.—One hundred guns were fired to-night by the democratic managers, in honor of the victory claimed for Cleveland in the state, and several Cleveland clubs paraded. Cleveland's supporters claim to have authentic reports giving the state to Cleveland, also Indiana, Connecticut, Nevada and possibly Illinois, and that no further doubt exists as to Cleveland's election.

THE SITUATION FROM A PROHIBITION STANDPOINT

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The following has been issued: The total prohibition vote will aggregate [illegible]. Four years ago it was less than 11,000, and it has decided the presidential contest in New York. Cleveland's majority is about 2000. Official returns will not materially change the figures. The prohibition vote in New York is fully [illegible]. The prohibition vote in Allegheny, Monroe and [illegible] counties alone would have carried the state for Blaine, if cast for him. The prohibitionists have stood up to be counted, and have rebuked the insult offered temperance men at the Chicago conventions, and their vote has made prohibition a national issue, which will not go out of national politics till beer shops and drinking have gone from America. The republican party having been removed from power to the graveyard, prohibition will at once organize to bury whisky democrats four years ahead. I am fully satisfied we have no choice between the candidates of the old parties, but were fighting to elect an issue, and we have won. The work to make the issue win in 1888 has already begun.

JOHN B. FINCH, Chairman National Prohibition Committee.

INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov 6.—The total of this county, Marion, was canvassed to-day. The republican electors have a majority of 5[illegible]. The count on the electoral ticket was not completed until during the night, and the vote for state and county officers was not canvassed. Chairman Henderson of the democratic state committee confidently claims the state by 8000, and Chairman New of the republican state committee concedes the democrats a majority of 2000. Mr. Michener, secretary of the republican committee, concedes a democratic majority of 1000. The democrats elect nine congressmen, certainly, and the republicans three. The Eighth district is still in doubt. The legislature will stand: Senate, democrats 3[illegible], republicans 17; house, democrats [illegible], republicans 3[illegible].

HENDRICKS CALLED UPON

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov 6.—Upon receipt of the report that the Times had conceded New York to Cleveland, which was posted upon the bulletin board, democrats appeared in great numbers, with their hats decorated with roosters and other devices, and carrying drums. Headed by a band, they paraded through the streets, rousing echoes with tin horns. They called on Mr. Hendricks, filling the spacious yard and street in front of his residence, and when he appeared the noise was simply terrific. When something like quiet was restored he was about to open his mouth, when a young negro boy broke out with a wild screech, when he said: "When you make a convert, allow him to shout."

Hendricks then said: "Gentlemen, I am taken by surprise by this large collection of fellow citizens. I appreciate how well you have done and the honest sentiments which animate you. I have no information, but I have no doubt that the ticket which was nominated in Chicago July 9 has been elected. (Applause.) But this is a matter of such grave importance that I would like to know very conclusively before I make any remarks. This has been the most extraordinary election I have ever been connected with. There has been the most profound sentiment and anxiety among the people, and for thirteen weeks past the mass of my fellow-citizens have done everything to promote this result. If you appreciate it I thank you. (Great applause.) I suppose by evening we shall have very full information, and then I shall be very glad to give you in some expression of gratification. Until that time I think I will say good bye to you."

A RIOT THREATENED

During the evening a crowd led by from William English, congressman from this district, attempted to carry a black banner of the "autocrats" into the postoffice building. They were met in the lobby by a republican crowd, and a scuffle that might have had serious consequences ensued. Mr. English was knocked or pushed down by a negro and somewhat bruised. The autocrats were seized, the democrats were hustled out of the building, and the banner torn into shreds, it being in charge by republicans. No one was hurt in the rush, but a rumor spread to the outskirts of the city that a riot was in progress. To-night the street in front of the postoffice is filled with a wild mob of men, who seize upon every favorable opportunity to yell themselves hoarse. A similar crowd fills the street a square distant, in front of democratic headquarters, where a similar demonstration is in progress.

A NUMBER OF CALLERS

Mr. Hendricks had a number of callers during the day and was in receipt of congratulatory messages from all over the country. At various times during the day he reiterated his opinion that the Western Union Telegraph company and the Associated Press were conspiring to damage him personally by falsely reporting that the state had gone for Blaine and Logan. The question of bribery in Ohio was discussed. He declined to enter into a detail of his opinions, but intimated that the democracy had pronounced views and would develop a strong policy in treatment of this evil. The system, he says, has become so deeply rooted that if trouble ensues he fears it will not be disposed of without resort to force.

"The presidential vote is very close. Will [illegible] the electoral commission be elected, Mr. Hendricks?"

"No, it will be long [illegible] I can [illegible] that that [illegible] of this state will never be disgraced by having [illegible] of deputy marshals [illegible] police force [illegible]. There was no disturbance in this state, [illegible] and the [illegible] of the people's liberties."

[illegible] enthusiastic democrats marched [illegible] his residence again this evening and demanded [illegible] that he said to them that [illegible] it will be [illegible] to celebrate the victory [illegible] when they are [illegible] so well assured, but a brief [illegible] in order to make assurance doubly sure [illegible].

VIRGINIA

[illegible]—[illegible] that the republicans [illegible] but declare [illegible] when [illegible] to noon from [illegible] part of the state show reduced republican gains. The democrats claim Virginia by [illegible] majority.

LYNCHBURG, Nov 6.—The greatest excitement prevails here over election news. Full returns from isolated parts of the Ninth, Tenth and Fifth districts confirm the democratic claim to 6000 majority in the state. In the Sixth district the republicans carried only one county and the democrats gain more than 5000 over the Wise-Mahone vote of 1882.

RICHMOND, Nov [illegible].—Additional returns to-day confirm dispatches sent from here last night as to Cleveland's majority in the state being not less than 6000. All districts but the Second and Fourth elect democratic congressmen by handsome majorities. The democrats here are wild with excitement over Chairman Manning's telegram that Cleveland has a safe and sure majority in New York state, and fired 100 guns in honor of Cleveland's victory.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov 6.—The democrats are confident of having carried Virginia, at a variously estimated majority from 5000 to 9000. The chairman of the democratic central committee of the Fourth congressional district claims that the state is democratic by fully 7000 majority. Hopkins, the majority [illegible] heavy gains in the Black Belt section of the state.

RICHMOND, Oct [illegible].—Returns, mostly official, from eighty-three counties and all the cities of Virginia give a majority for Cleveland of 7450. Seventeen counties remaining to be heard from gave a democratic majority last year of 1270. These counties are likely to give the same, if not greater, majorities now, which will make Cleveland's majority in the state nearly 9000.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 6.—The republicans have elected congressmen in the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth districts. The First and Sixth are still in doubt.

Six hundred and fifty precincts and wards in forty-seven counties outside of San Francisco give Blaine 51,548, Cleveland 45,270. [illegible] Garfield 41,2[illegible], Hancock [illegible]. There remain 152 precincts to hear from.

Later returns give the republicans forty-eight assemblymen and thirteen senators, which would leave them a majority of fourteen on joint ballot.

Later figures for congressmen show the following: First district, Carothers 7,21[illegible]; Henley [illegible]; Second district, Louttit 10,928; Sumner [illegible].

Full return from San Jose city give Sullivan for congress 13[illegible], Felton for congress 3760.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 6.—One hundred and thirty two precincts in the city give, for Mayor Bartlett [illegible], Merry 17,142; for sheriff, Hopkins 14,[illegible], [illegible] 8,[illegible]; Connolly 5[illegible]6.

The majority of the republicans on joint ballot in the legislature will probably exceed 15.

One hundred and thirty two precincts in this city give Fourth district, for congress, Hastings [illegible]; Morrow 10,[illegible]; Fifth district, Felton 8,[illegible]; Sullivan [illegible].

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 6.—Special.—The detailed report gives about all the facts concerning the election in California. The republicans have made a magnificent sweep of the state, giving in the neighborhood of 15,000 majority to the electors and securing the legislature, which chooses a senator. Probably five of the six congressmen will be republican. The electoral and congressional tickets have decided majorities in the city, but most of the democratic municipal candidates are elected. Merry, republican candidate for mayor, is badly beaten, and O'Donnell, independent, is elected coroner. Returns are not yet complete and will not be for several days.

SAN FRANCISCO GOES WILD

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 6.—[Special.]—This city has been the scene of a howling carnival since 7 o'clock, or rather the scene of two carnivals trying to run on a single track. The extravagant demonstrations of last night have been far surpassed. The city roars with the din of ten thousand tin horns, in the hands of as many fools, and the streets are filled with processions numbering from one hundred to a thousand men each. A large company of democrats are marching about in [illegible] of the Wilderness, each man carrying a broom and wearing a small rooster in his hat. At 10 o'clock the managers of the republican wigwam cleared the hall and locked it, [illegible] the crowd would go home, but instead it picked up Congressman Morrow and several other prominent speakers and bore them on their shoulders [illegible] the street, 2000 strong, for an hour. The [illegible] effect [illegible] wait and hear [illegible].

MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Nov 6.—Returns received at the republican state central committee rooms show that republicans [illegible] over 1882, and [illegible] of the election. General Alger, republican candidate for governor. The vote on electors will probably [illegible] 1000 plurality for Blaine.

Returns up to 11:15 A. M., including complete returns from Detroit and Grand Rapids, give Blaine a majority of 2000. Congressional delegation will probably stand six fusion and five republicans. The republicans claim small majority in the legislature.

Returns received up to noon indicate that Blaine's plurality in Michigan will be between 10,000 and 20,000.

Returns received up to 2:30 P. M. give Blaine a plurality of [illegible]08, and Alger for governor a plurality of 1100.

Returns up to 3 o'clock give Blaine a plurality of 1514 over fusion; [illegible] Blaine vs. fusion, [illegible]08. Alger, republican for governor, has a plurality of 7,21[illegible]; Begole fusion, 15,807; Alger over Begole, 1407. Later returns from the strongest republican counties, and change the result made. Other returns will probably increase the republican plurality.

The republican state committee now claim the election in this state by 6000 to 10,000 plurality. The prohibition vote is much smaller than expected, but the vote is not all reported. The legislature stands 13 republican senators, 1[illegible] fusionists; representatives, [illegible] of fusionists, 49 republicans.

DETROIT, Nov 6.—From reports in 1088 precincts and estimates of the remaining precincts, the democratic committee place the republican plurality at 1700. The republican committee claims the state and electoral tickets are elected by 7,000 plurality. All reports received up to 10 o'clock indicate Blaine has a plurality of 3000 to 4000.

ILLINOIS

[illegible] says: In New York is very close [illegible] the republicans [illegible]. The Tribune gives Blaine's majority in Cook county, Illinois, at 7000—Harrison 4,000. Oglesby is elected governor. The Inter Ocean claims Blaine is elected, but depends largely on New York.

The Inter Ocean [illegible] It claims New York for Cleveland and says the republicans are perfecting a plan to steal Indiana; that Michigan is yet in doubt. Chicago Herald says the result hangs on New York with indications favoring Cleveland [illegible] doubtful [illegible] change [illegible] but further [illegible] bulletins will continue through the [illegible].

CHICAGO, Nov 6.—Hon. John T. Finerty announces editorially in his paper, the Citizen, that he will contest the election of Frank Lawler in the second district in this state.

CHICAGO, Nov 6.—Blaine's plurality in 81 counties of Illinois is 11,827, with 21 counties to hear from, a republican loss of [illegible] compared with Garfield's vote in 1880, and a democratic gain of 5573 compared with Hancock's vote in 1880. Returns from Butler and prohibition are meager, but the difference between the republican loss and the democratic gain, [illegible]12, may have gone to these parties. Additional returns from Cook county, leaving only seven country precincts outside of Chicago missing, give Blaine a plurality of 6[illegible]4. The missing precinct in 1880 gave Garfield 14[illegible], Hancock [illegible]. As far as received [illegible] county, Harrison, democrat, for governor has 2[illegible]8 majority over [illegible], republican.

MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON, Nov 6.—Interest in the result of the [illegible] in this city. The [illegible] most remarkable appearance. Washington street from Bromfield to State is one [illegible] county, making it impassable. [illegible]. Returns are announced [illegible] Herald, Globe and from Journal bulletins [illegible]. The crowds cheer [illegible] itself in favoring [illegible] the preferences of the observers. The excitement is intense. Papers are seized from boys and burned, and pictures of Blaine and Cleveland were seized by the crowds and destroyed, and there has been many personal encounters. The crowd broke one large plate glass window in the Journal office, and rotten eggs and stones have been thrown at the building. Several persons have been arrested in connection with newspaper burning. At the democratic headquarters democrats were burning red lights and discharging rockets, and taken altogether the great scene was never before surpassed.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov 6.—N. A. Plymton, General Butler's political manager, was summoned to New York to-night.

FLORIDA

PENSACOLA, Fla., Nov 6.—West Florida official returns thus far sustain the estimated democratic majority of 1250. So far one senator and two representatives have been gained by the democrats in counties west of the Apalachicola river. Escambia county, the home of Perry, democratic candidate for governor, gives a democratic majority of 80, though it went republican in 1880 by several hundred majority.

JACKSONVILLE, Nov 6.—Corrected returns from all counties of the state except three, give Cleveland 4600 majority. Two of the three counties to be heard from are strongly democratic. Bisbee, republican, concedes the election of Dougherty, democratic, to congress in the Second district by 1000 majority. There is great rejoicing among democrats here over reports of Cleveland's election.

PENSACOLA, Nov 6.—Governor Perry is addressing 1000 democrats in the plaza. A torch light procession, with bands, is forming, to march through the principal streets near midnight.

SOUTHERN STATES

GALVESTON, Nov 6.—Encouraging news from New York giving assurance of democratic victory finds expression in a national salute of 100 cannon, which is now being fired.

MEMPHIS, Nov 6.—There is great excitement over the close result vote in New York state and the streets are thronged with people hungry for the latest bulletins, which are posted at the Avalanche and Appeal offices. No interest whatever is taken in returns from the state election, but everybody is anxious to ascertain the result as to who has been elected president.

NASHVILLE, Nov 6.—This city is wild with excitement over the announcement of the election of Cleveland and Hendricks. Cannon are firing from Capitol hill, and thousands of men parade the streets, headed by bands of music and the sky is lurid with bonfires and rockets.

COLORADO

DENVER [illegible]—Returns from [illegible] of 5[illegible] precincts in Arapahoe county insures Blaine's majority in the county of 1500. Symes, republican, for congress carries the county 8[illegible]7 majority; Eaton, republican, for governor by 600 majority. This insures a majority in the state for Blaine of 8500. Symes', for congress, estimated majority in the state 2500. Eaton's majority in the state will be fully 1000.

Returns in Arapahoe county from a democratic source is as follows: Thirty two precincts in Denver and 17 outside, gave Blaine 5[illegible]2, Cleveland 14[illegible]7. Thirty precincts in Denver and [illegible] outside, give Eaton, republican, for governor 49[illegible]1; Adams, democrat, 4[illegible]; Lieutenant governor Brooks, republican, 49[illegible]. Wilson, democrat, 4[illegible]7. Congress, Symes, republican, [illegible]; Thomas, democrat, [illegible].

MAINE

BLAINE'S HEALTH

AUGUSTA, Nov 6.—Mr. Blaine said in reply to an inquiry about his health: "I never felt better in my life. I remained in my room most of the time yesterday, as also after seven weeks' continuous public speaking, I was still quite hoarse and I felt that I was entitled to one day's rest."

The fact is he is in excellent health and spirits, and as this dispatch is being written he is just getting ready to go out for a walk. Senator John P. Miller telegraphs Blaine this morning that the whole Pacific slope is safe for the republicans, and that California gives Blaine a majority of 15,000.

WISCONSIN

About three-quarters of the precincts in Wisconsin heard from show net democratic gains of 1[illegible],100. The rest may increase it to 19,000, leaving the republican majority of 10,000. Republicans gain four congressmen and elect entire state ticket.

MILWAUKEE, Nov 6.—Returns have not as yet been received from more than two-thirds of the election precincts of the state, but these clearly show that the republican ticket has won by not less than 12,000. It is also certain that the republicans have seven out of nine congressmen, and a majority of fifteen in the state legislature on joint ballot.

VERMONT

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Nov 6.—Two hundred and twenty-six towns give Blaine [illegible], Cleveland 16,[illegible], Butler 7[illegible]6, St. John 1[illegible]4, giving Blaine a plurality of 21,[illegible]87, in the total vote of 57,[illegible]. Fourteen towns not in gave in 1880 a republican plurality of [illegible]. A proportionate vote of the towns not in would give Blaine a plurality of 23,112. The above figures give complete returns of Franklin, Orange and Washington counties. Intense excitement prevails throughout the state over the general result. Business is virtually at a standstill. The absorbing topic is the situation in New York state.

KANSAS

ST. JOHN BURNED IN EFFIGY

TOPEKA, Nov 6.—John P. St. John was burned in effigy here to-night, and such wild scenes were enacted as never before witnessed in Topeka. Fully 3000 men and boys watched the image of St. John go up in flames from a telegraph pole in front of the Western Union telegraph office. Captain A. C. Corney made a short speech, declaring that St John had violated every trust and confidence of the people of Kansas, and that the state should be cleared of his [illegible].

AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov 6.—Democrats of this city fired 100 guns to-night in celebration of the democratic victory which they think assured. They afterwards formed in procession and paraded the streets with bands and torches for several hours.

Secretary McPherson of the republican congressional committee received a telegram to-night from Chalmers of Mississippi, saying he would contest the election of his congressional competitor on the ground of fraud.

WEST VIRGINIA

WHEELING, Nov 6.—The majorities in this state by counties are as follows: Hancock 220, Marion 2[illegible], Monongahela 7[illegible]0, Gray [illegible]00, Preston 1[illegible]0, Marshall 5[illegible], Tyler [illegible], Doddridge 2[illegible]0, Marion [illegible], Putnam 178, Wood 500, Kanawha 1100, Tucker 271, Harrison 2[illegible]0. Cleveland's majorities [illegible]: Brooke 53, Lewis 1[illegible], Wetzel 800, [illegible] Mineral 5[illegible], Berkley 60, [illegible], Hampshire 1800 estimated. The state [illegible] undoubtedly democratic.

NEVADA

VIRGINIA CITY, Nov 6.—[illegible], secretary of the republican state central committee, telegraphs: "Nevada gives Blaine 700, and Woodburn, republican, for congress, 900 majority."

Ten precincts in Washoe county give Blaine 728, Cleveland 1[illegible].

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Nov 6.—The democrats concede the state to the republicans by 1000 majority, and the election of Woodburn, republican, to congress, [illegible].

PENNSYLVANIA

PITTSBURG, Nov 6.—Interest in the election shows no signs of abatement. The streets in the vicinity of newspaper and telegraph offices have been blocked day and night since Tuesday, with men crowding themselves hoarse for their favorite candidates. To-night Chief of Police Brown, fearing trouble, forbid the posting of bulletins.

ARKANSAS

ST. LOUIS, Nov 6.—Complete returns from [illegible] in Arkansas, and even from Pulaski [illegible] anything in [illegible] New York and Indiana returns, is Arkansas [illegible] democrat.

IDAHO

CALDWELL, Idaho, Nov 6.—The vote for delegate in Idaho is close, with chances in favor of Singiser, republican.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, Nov 6.—Forty out of 114 counties in Missouri, including the city of St. Louis, give Marmaduke, democrat, for governor, a plurality over Ford, fusion, of 1600 against 3004 in 1880. At this ratio, in the balance of the state, Marmaduke, democrat, for governor, will get 10,000 plurality. Cleveland's plurality in the state, it is thought, will not fall short of 20,000. The democrats elect twelve congressmen.

LATEST RETURNS FROM OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

CATHLAMET, Nov 6.—Counting the vote in the precinct was concluded early this morning, having occupied forty three hours. Armstrong's majority in the county is 162 and prosecuting attorney, Porter, 56. The anticipated result for the other offices, as forwarded yesterday, was correct. Two candidates on the people's ticket were elected.

COLFAX [illegible], Nov 6.—Twelve precincts give official returns, two to hear from yet. Voorhees has 200 majority.

CHEHALIS, Nov 6.—At the election held in this county, the republicans received handsome majorities, with the exception of commissioners, auditor and delegate. W. A. Reynolds received 81 majority for prosecuting attorney. [illegible] Crosby, 125 for joint councilman. Charles Knowles 206 for representative. S. H. Berry, 41 for auditor. S. H. Claughton, 80 for sheriff. W. M. Urquhart, 244 for treasurer. Moses Goder, 159 for probate judge. A. B. Balch, 313 for school superintendent. F. P. McClure, 23[illegible] for assessor. J. C. Berry, 112 for surveyor. W. W. Cappe, 200 for coroner. R. Griffith, J. L. McNibben and W. B. [illegible] are elected commissioners by a small majority. Voorhees received [illegible] majority.

PACIFIC COUNTY

Oysterville—Armstrong 6, Voorhees 10, McFadden 30, Porter 30, Van Cleave 31, Bowen 45, Goodell [illegible], La Du 22, Wood [illegible], Davis 5[illegible], Turner 13, Whitcomb 1[illegible], Davis 1[illegible], Taylor 3[illegible], Van Cleave [illegible], Warman 1[illegible], Wilson 40, Hutton 42, Wylie 3, Embree 45, Mrs Griswold 18, Mrs. Hicklin 66, Whealdon 4[illegible], Pagles 49, Hanselman 40, Mower 48, Easterbrook 16, Ward 48.

In Ilwaco—Armstrong 116, Voorhees 20, McFadden 77, Porter 59, Van Cleave 6[illegible], Bowen 7[illegible], Goodell 6[illegible], La Du 7, Wood [illegible], Davis 7[illegible], Turner [illegible], Whitcomb 73, Davis 6[illegible], Taylor 73, Van Cleave 77, Warman 60, Preston 138, Wilson [illegible], Hutton 61, Embree 74, Wylie 7[illegible], Mrs Griswold [illegible], Mrs Hincklin 8[illegible], Whealdon 5[illegible], Pagles 8[illegible], Hanselman 6[illegible], Mower 69, Easterbrook 7[illegible], Ward 56.

In South Bend: Voorhees 66, Armstrong 14, McFadden 78, Porter 4, Van Cleave 7[illegible], Bowen [illegible], Goodell 78, La Du [illegible], Taft 4, Campbell 4, Wood [illegible], Davis 11, Preston 8[illegible], Hutton 79, Wilson 7[illegible], Wylie [illegible], Embree 3, Davis 80, Taylor 2, Turner 66, Whitcomb 16, Van Cleave 78, Warman [illegible], Mrs Hincklin 11, Mrs Griswold 37, Hanselman [illegible], Mower [illegible], Easterbrook 79, Ward 3, Whealdon 78, Pagles [illegible].

In Woodard's Landing—Armstrong 20, Voorhees 90, McFadden [illegible], Porter 29, Van Cleave 120, Bowen 8, Goodell 101, Taft [illegible], Campbell 50, La Du [illegible], Davis 11, Wood [illegible], Davis 110, Taylor [illegible], Van Cleave 120, Warman [illegible], Mrs Hincklin 110, Mrs Griswold 20, Preston 1[illegible], Wilson 101, Hutton 104, Wylie 28, Embree 28, Whealdon 77, Pagles [illegible].

A correspondent writes that in Sunshine, the Nasel, Bruceport and the Willapa, the result will not materially alter the aggregate of the above figures, and that the union ticket, except J. A. Whealdon and Mrs Griswold, is elected.

KING COUNTY

SEATTLE, W. T., Nov 6.—[Special.]—The Second ward finished counting the 1[illegible] ballots at 11 P. M. The result of the city now stands, Voorhees [illegible]00, Armstrong 1049, a majority for Voorhees of 1051. The vote of the county is estimated at, Voorhees 3[illegible], Armstrong 1[illegible], giving Voorhees a majority of 2316. The returns are not all official, but are closely estimated. Captain George D. Hill, for the past ten years treasurer of King county, has been beaten by a small majority. [illegible], democrat, is the treasurer elect. For school superintendent, the Republicans nominated Mrs. Irene Clark, while her opponent, Prof. O. S. Jones, was the only independent nominee of the "young men's independent political club," the rest of their ticket being made by endorsing the regular nominees of either party. Jones' majority in the city is 905. The county will give him 1500. The cause of such an overwhelming majority against the only woman candidate is because she was not a practical teacher. Returns now indicate a majority for Voorhees of [illegible].

WALLA WALLA COUNTY

WALLA WALLA, Nov [illegible].—Special.—Voorhees' majority in the county is [illegible], with two democratic precincts to hear from. Democrats elect Hanna, prosecuting attorney, Bowles, sheriff, Reeser and Babcock, county commissioners, probate judge Gotschall, Brewer legislature, Morgan, school superintendent. Republicans elect Painter, auditor; Isaacs, council; Cummings, county commissioner; Keefer, coroner. Dispatches from different parts of the territory to the [illegible] indicate Voorhees election by a small majority.

THURSTON

OLYMPIA, Nov 6.—Special.—The official count of Thurston county vote was made to-day, from which it appears that the total vote cast was 1[illegible]88, showing an increase of 760 since 1882. Figures are but little changed on the official count, with the exception of Porter, whose majority in the county is only 9. The county vote in favor of taxing church property is 457.

WHITMAN COUNTY

COLFAX, W. T., Nov 6.—Special.—All the precincts heard from excepting six. They are small and will not change results. Voorhees' majority is 280. The democrats elect their sheriff, probate judge, surveyor, and probably commissioner, in the First district.

CLARK COUNTY

YAKIMA

YAKIMA, Nov 6, VIA AINSWORTH, Nov 6.—[Special.]—There were 5[illegible] votes cast in this precinct. In 3[illegible] votes already counted Voorhees led 75.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 7 1884.

THE ELECTION

The returns leave the election still unsettled. It is claimed now by one party and now by the other. New York is the pivotal state. Her electoral vote settles it. The popular majority that will decide this electoral vote probably will not be more than a few hundred either way. It is an extremely narrow margin for as large a vote as that of New York, but as there is sufficiency in enough, the slender majority, when positively ascertained, will answer its purpose as well as last year's one hundred and ninety-two thousand did in the gubernatorial election in the same state.

In favor of the democratic party at the start there were enormous odds. Resting upon the 153 electoral votes of the south, for which no contest is permitted and which are counted without an election, it was necessary for the democratic managers to secure only a handful of electoral votes in the north, and to this end they were free to direct all their energies and concentrate all their strength upon a few chosen and doubtful states. Thus they selected for capture the group of states under the immediate influence of the great American metropolis, where everything was in their favor and where the enormous influences of foreign trade could be brought to bear in support of their candidate. New York, New Jersey and Connecticut would make enough. Yet Indiana might be added. That is the northern state always most in actual sympathy with the south, and upon it also, as one of the states which it was least difficult to win, the force of the democratic campaign was concentrated. The great vote of the south being assured, without a contest, the democratic party of that section could furnish heavy sums of money for the northern campaign, while all the northern states, except the few upon which the pressure was to be brought, were abandoned to the republicans, and resources were drawn from them to push the great effort in the three or four states selected as the field for the struggle to secure the few electoral votes necessary for the addition to the southern electoral roll.

This, for many years, has been the democratic plan of action. It has long been apparent that it was likely to succeed at one time or another, because the least republican dissension in northern states, or the least relaxation of vigilance or effort, would afford to the democratic party its coveted opportunity. Here was the reason why THE OREGONIAN, with so many others, opposed the nomination of Mr Blaine. It foresaw the dissension that the nomination would cause in the pivotal states. It doubted whether he could carry them against it, and therefore it advised the nomination of some man against whom this attack would not be made. It was folly, indeed, with the solid south already counted, to nominate the man against whom loudest protest was sure to be made in states most doubtful of any yet most vital to republican success. While it was conceded that Mr Blaine had great abilities, and at the same time a large hold upon the republican masses, nevertheless it was apparent that his candidacy would be opposed by many men of large influence in his own party. All well informed persons knew that there were jealousies, rivalries, hatreds, of which he was the center and object, and that in order to support and justify the opposition of enemies the most unscrupulous use would be made of every accusation against him. The "Mulligan letters" of which so much has been said, were not the cause of this opposition, but only the opportunity and the instruments of it. THE OREGONIAN foresaw this attack, anticipated its effect, and to the republican state convention of Oregon, when delegates to Chicago were to be chosen, it said: "Since the republican party can nominate a man who would be unassailable, why take Mr Blaine, whose name would be a signal for a defensive campaign? Again, since the republican party can nominate a man who would receive the united 'independent,' 'stalwart' and 'half-breed' vote, particularly in the empire state, where such united vote is most needed, why nominate Mr Blaine, who could not get it? We are not saying that Mr Blaine is unworthy, but emphasizing the objection to him as a candidate, who would not be so strong as some other who might be named." This counsel, which THE OREGONIAN was not alone in tendering, was scouted. Our delegates were instructed for the man whose nomination every properly informed person knew would provoke this opposition in states which would be closely contested, and which the republicans could not spare. And now that the very antagonism which was foreseen has brought the party to the brink of defeat in New York and beaten it in the two states under the shadow of the great metropolis, it is proper to say that it was political folly to brave such a danger to provoke such a result.

From another view, indeed, it may be said that if Mr Blaine is defeated the prohibition vote has done it. But for the withdrawal of this large body of voters from the republican party, there would be 25,000 majority in the state of New York. True enough; but this would not have sufficed without the "independent" movement to defeat the candidate. Again it is probable that the prohibition vote represents in [illegible] republican protest against Mr Blaine. Many voted for St. John who would not vote either for Blaine or for Cleveland, but who would have voted for almost any republican candidate except Blaine.

On the other hand it is fair to say that Mr. Blaine has received many votes that no other republican candidate could have obtained. He has drawn out the republican reserves in nearly all parts of the country. In many places he has had the support of considerable numbers of democrats. In New York he [illegible] from that party enough to offset the "independent" loss, since the prohibitionists, to the number of nearly 20,000, who voted for St John, were almost all from the republican party. Looking at it from one point of view it is the prohibitionists who have brought Mr Blaine to the perilous edge of defeat, if they have not actually defeated him, while from another point of view it is the independents. [illegible] apparent that Mr Blaine drew [illegible] from the democrats [illegible] would have been sufficient for the republican party [illegible] man who will have [illegible] the whole vote of his own party. On the question of protection the republicans had an overwhelming advantage throughout the campaign, and this would have carried the party [illegible] any other candidate than Blaine.

It is true that Mr Blaine has conducted himself with admirable ability and [illegible] throughout the campaign. [illegible]

[illegible] the enemies of the republican party [illegible] was [illegible] Most of their effort was [illegible] New York. They went into no strife [illegible] democratic state, thus showing that their object was simply to bring about republican defeat. If they succeed they have simply placed in power the party that is the main bulwark of the liquor traffic; and no person now old enough to take an interest in politics will live long enough to see it dislodged.

We say this not in a petulant spirit, but with quiet deliberation. The reason on which the opinion is based is simple and unanswerable. There is the solid south, counted always in advance. Under democratic administration it will be so counted in every election and during an indefinite period. The influences that make it solid now will be strengthened under democratic administration. The national government will be used as it was in former times to support sectional opinion. Dissent from the democratic party will be followed by increased intolerance and proscription, and the man who is found guilty of it will be pronounced even more than ever before "a traitor to the south." Where these ordinary methods will not answer, violence and murder will do the rest, and the tyranny of sectional opinion will maintain an absolute and perpetual despotism. To perpetuate its rule in the national government the democratic party will find it necessary only to bring the whole pressure of the administration upon a few northern states, which it can always carry; and for this result democrats will tolerate and assist in the employment of methods which republicans never would permit their party to use. The pressure of a democratic administration brought to bear upon Oregon will make Oregon a democratic state and keep it so. It would carry California likewise, and in fact every one of the close northern states. The liquor interest will ally itself with the democratic party more closely and more firmly than ever, and will be protected by it. The great corporations will take shelter under it, and it will gladly receive their money and other support to keep itself in power. As it originated the spoils doctrine and never had any scruples in using it, so to sustain itself in power it will push the spoils doctrine to the uttermost, and with the advantage of the solid south on its side nothing less than a revolution will ever dislodge it.

A DISPUTED ELECTION

It is evident that there is going to be a big dispute over the electoral vote of New York. Things are getting into shape for a first-class row over it. It ought to be possible to get at the facts so as to show the country which party has an actual majority, and then all will accept the result. At present both sides claim the election. THE OREGONIAN hopes that Blaine and Logan are elected, but it will not claim their election till it sees good reasons to do so; in other words, till it knows something of the facts on which the claim may properly be based. For one party or the other there is an actual majority, unless indeed it be so close that some of the electors on both tickets are chosen. It will be possible in good time to get at the facts. Till then patience is necessary. What the ballots shall fairly show must be accepted by both parties. But meantime there is a powerful temptation to unscrupulous men to tamper with them. If there is an honest republican majority it must be counted. If there is an honest democratic majority it must be counted. And, as the machinery of the count is in democratic hands, it is well to say that the republicans may properly exercise all vigilance in guarding their side of the case. They are not called on to surrender any of their rights. Already in being compelled to see the whole vote of the southern states counted against them, without being permitted to make a contest before the people in a fair and free election, they are submitting to injustice as far as patriotic duty requires.

An approach to "the federation of the world" is shown in the attempts of the leading governments to facilitate mail transportation. There is a system of exchange of letters, post cards and printed matter at uniform rates over the greater part of the world. But the post cards and stamps of one country cannot be used in another. If they are on a letter they are recognized as evidence of prepayment at the point of starting, but English stamps are not good in America. The London Daily News now suggests that, by common consent, a form of post card shall be adopted which may be available the world over. The convenience of such an arrangement, which should include stamps, as well as postal cards, would be great.

There has been in successful operation for half a century in the city of Philadelphia a union benevolent association which has for its purpose "the encouragement of industry, the suppression of pauperism and the relief of suffering among the worthy poor." It was a pioneer in that systematic work for the elevation of the condition of the poor which is now recognized as of so much more importance than mere relief. Last year it disbursed some fourteen thousand dollars in various forms of relief with such prudent management that the whole expense of administering its large organization was no more than three thousand dollars and it was able to add six thousand dollars to its invested funds.

H. W. S.

THE OREGONIAN has had an experience. Its editorials in type for Wednesday were based on the supposition that Cleveland was elected, but about 4 A M news came that turned a doubt over it and even made it appear that the chances favored Blaine, so the articles were "killed." Then its editorials in type for Thursday were based on the supposition that Blaine was elected, and again about 3 A M news came that made it doubtful, and the articles again were "killed." This morning they are prepared to be read either way. Like the darkey's coon trap, we shall "cotch him now [illegible]."

The Missouri constitution, adopted in 1875, excludes soldiers and sailors from voting, and the provision has stood unquestioned to this day. The object was, of course, to prevent soldiers from getting the right to vote by merely being stationed in the state. But the stupid wording made the government shut out its own citizens who were in the federal service. Under this provision of the constitution General Sherman is unable to vote at his home in St. Louis.

Blaine was just the man who ought not to have been nominated, and yet he was nominated by the masses of the party, in opposition to the "bosses and the machine." Even if it shall turn out that he is elected, the experience will be a perpetual warning against the nomination of any man in future whose candidacy will [illegible] antagonisms. [illegible]

[illegible] the democratic organs will begin to claim that they have an enormous majority of the popular vote. But they haven't—that is, they have no majority of the popular vote of the United States. On the contrary, it is enormously against them. [illegible]

After the election of 1876 the [illegible] was the only New York morning paper that did not concede Tilden's election. Yesterday the [illegible] was the only New York morning paper [illegible] paper of the metropolis [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] United States senators [illegible] Oregon and California [illegible] political senators.

Had Tammany really "knifed" Cleveland it might have a future. But as it didn't republicans will be glad that it failed utterly in its effort to elect the ticket.

THE GOVERNMENT

Rev Edward Everett Hale has lately written an article on the American government, to show that the people are the real government, and the administration, meaning by that the entire official class, has comparatively very little power in the legislation of the country, or in giving direction to the general course of affairs. The illustrations he employs to establish his assertions are very interesting, showing as they do, that the great events in the development of our national history, like the invention of the cotton gin, which gave value to slave labor in the south, the pioneer emigrations from the seaboard states to the western wilderness which made the Louisiana purchase valuable and secured Oregon, have gone on without any suggestion or prompting, and almost without aid from any administration. The reform movements have begun with the people and the people have strenuously persisted in them, often in spite of the failure of support from the administration, and sometimes in face of opposition from the constituted authorities. Mr Hale might have added force and value to his article if he had gone further and shown that great measures of progress and reform must arise from the people in order to be successful and that it is impossible, even under a monarchical form of government, for the administration or ruling powers to force reforms even upon the people in advance of popular preparation for them.

The first part of this proposition is illustrated in the events which have taken place in Norway during the past year. The Norwegian liberals have forced the king to submit to the impeachment and conviction of his chosen ministers, and to the appointment of a liberal ministry as the only one able to exist in the presence of a determined liberal majority in the storthing. The success of these liberals has had an almost immediate effect upon Swedish politics. During the constitutional crisis in Norway, the Swedish liberals met and voted their sympathy with the struggles of their neighbors. They have, quite recently, taken a further step, and contested the nineteen legislative seats belonging to the city of Stockholm, previously held by supporters of the government. Owing to their unexpected activity, and the existence of a variety of grievances, success attended their efforts. They captured sixteen of the nineteen seats. According to local writers this will result in making Sweden a hotbed of political agitation. These reforms originated with the people, and the administrations were forced to accept them.

The other part of the proposition, that is, the impossibility of the ruling powers to force reforms upon an unprepared people is most forcibly illustrated in the failure of Joseph II of Austria to reform his kingdom by imperial edicts. The erection of a monument to this "grandly-attempting man" in Bohemia a few weeks ago has revived the recollection of the melancholy history of this imperial champion of progress. He was warned by his mother when about to visit France not "to see the wicked Voltaire." He religiously kept the promise she extracted from him, but saw "his statues at Ferney and exclaimed enthusiastically, "that is enough." He succeeded to his mother's throne as an admirer of "the wicked Voltaire," and straightway began to introduce in his dominions vast schemes of reform, mainly of the Voltairean pattern. He declared himself to be "everybody's equal." When certain nobles of his court once besought him to close the Prater at Vienna against the general public, in order that the aristocracy might only meet their equals in the favorite promenade, he replied: "If I were to associate with only my equals, I should have to shut myself in the vault of the Capuchins among the bones of my ancestors. Do you not know that there is no greater pleasure than to be everybody's equal and to make every one equal to yourself?"

But his political career was a succession of failures, and this was explained by the politic Frederick who sarcastically said of him that "he was a very clever man, but with one fault—that of generally taking the second step without having taken the first." At the same time as a reformer he was a thoroughly sincere, upright, and single-minded man, actuated by a burning hatred of all that was unjust, tyrannical, fraudulent and mean, and determined to use his best efforts to redress grievances, sweep away evil, alleviate the woes of poverty, encourage industry and reward virtue. There was almost no end to the reforms which he attempted. He granted liberty of the press to his subjects. He conceded toleration to nonconformists in religion. He dissolved the mendicant orders of monks. The Jews in his dominions were relieved from the obligation of wearing a distinctive and degrading costume. He issued regulations to control and modify the pomp of the celebration of Roman Catholic rites, insisted on nominating bishops without the interference of Rome, and forbade the publication of Papal briefs without the warrant of the civil authorities. He abolished the punishment of death, and suppressed forced rural labor, tithes and inland custom houses. He made Trieste and Fiume free ports. He secularized a large number of convents, and completely reorganized the bureaucracy of Austria.

But the result of his innovation was that his subjects absolutely rebelled against his reforms. The episcopacy and the priesthood, [illegible] his dominions, all the jobbers, the intriguers, the holders of vested interests and patent places were against him and there was no previously prepared body of popular sentiment, or public opinion to which he could successfully appeal for support. He took a succession of second steps without having taken the first, and died, worn out and broken hearted, with the disquieting thought that after all the trouble he had taken, he had made very few happy people and a great many ungrateful. Many of the reforms which he attempted have since been carried out at the cost of untold treasure and rivers of blood. But he came too soon. As Napoleon I, said, "he went mad before his time"—that is, the French revolution, in the dawn of which he passed away. He was in too great a hurry, took the second step before taking the first, and though "grandly attempting" he succeeded in nothing.

These propositions, of course, like all general propositions, are subject to many exceptions and limitations. The administration has great power, though this power is most often exercised in delaying measures of reform. And yet it is true that all governments, in which there is the fullest approach to popular liberty, are dominated by the force of public opinion rather than [illegible]

Goethe's Apothegms

Contemporary Review.

Goethe [illegible] Solomon [illegible] they pour from him in floods. He [illegible] abundance of them [illegible] such rare talent for generalization [illegible] strangely combined with [illegible] love of natural science, we are [illegible] reminded of the ancient description of Solomon, which says that he spake of trees, from the cedar [illegible] even unto the hyssop which springeth out of the walls; also he spake three thousand proverbs, and his songs were a thousand and five. [illegible]

Attending Funerals.

Some people attend every funeral they hear of, simply because they have [illegible] and many go to enjoy the ride to and from the grave. I know one old lady of the latter class who would go to every funeral in [illegible] and would weep over the corpse so profusely and descant upon the deceased's virtues so eloquently that the undertaker would infallibly feel it his bounden duty to ask her name and have it put down in one of the best places on the carriage list. You know Sidney Smith says: "For the heartiest mirth and jollity in the world commend me to the [illegible] a funeral."

Speaking of humor in connection with funerals, I remember burying the wife of a prominent iron manufacturer who never lost any opportunity to advertise his business. He purchased a lot in a cemetery which I need not name, and surrounded it with a very ornamental fence of his own manufacture. After I had laid his good lady to rest within it he erected to her memory a handsome tombstone, on which were carved these words: "Here lies Mrs Annie B—, wife of Robert B—, proprietor of the —— Iron Works, where the elegant fence around this lot was manufactured. Similar ones made to order."

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE—ADMIRALTY. [illegible] United States of America, District of Oregon, ss. Whereas, a libel hath been filed in the district court of the United States for the district of Oregon on the [illegible] day of October 1884 by Messrs John Catlin and H. E. Nichols proctors, on behalf of Louis Nicolai and Theodore Nicolai, carpenters, under the firm name of Nicolai & Bro, against the steam ferryboat called the Albina No. [illegible], her tackle, etc, in a cause of contract, civil and maritime, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in the said vessel, her tackle and apparel, machinery and furniture may be cited [illegible] and answer the premises and all due proceedings being had that the same may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition under the seal of said court to me directed and delivered on the 5th day of October 1884 I do hereby give public notice unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said vessel called the Albina No [illegible] her boats, tackle, apparel, machinery and furniture to appear before the said court in the city of Portland in said district on Monday, the 1st day of December 1884 if the same shall be a court day, otherwise on the next court day thereafter at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day then and there to answer the said libel and to make known their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Portland in said district the 6th day of November 1884.

[illegible] NUMBERS KELLY
U S Marshal for the district of Oregon.

JOHN CATLIN and H E NICHOLS,

BRIEF MENTION

Joseffy's second concert to-night.

The muff department of Ainsworth & [illegible]'s bank is now open.

Rev. Joseph Cook lectures on the "Seven Wonders of the World" to-night.

The paper for Kate Castleton's "All at Sea" has been spread upon the bill-boards.

Ralph Walsh, formerly agent of Wells Fargo & Co. in this city, is on the Sound and in poor health.

The wagon of the City bakery was damaged to the extent of about $50 by the team running [illegible] yesterday.

Among the members of the Kate Castleton company is Ethel Lynton, formerly prima donna of the [illegible], Francisco.

A complimentary benefit will be tendered to the members of the chorus, stage hands and [illegible] of the Tivoli theater Sunday night.

A literary and musical entertainment and sociable at Hall street M. E. church this evening. Admittance [illegible] cents. Public cordial[ly] invited.

Senator [illegible] proposes to ask the grand jury at Annapolis to find indictments for murder against the hazers who caused the death of Cadet Strong by rolling him down hill in a barrel.

The lecture upon "Ultimate America" delivered by Rev. Joseph Cook last evening was the subject of an address by him at the centennial celebration of Ticonderoga in 1875.

Company C, second battalion O. N. G., have received the medal awarded them for their drill at the Mechanics fair. Col. J. K. Phillips made the presentation, and Captain [illegible] received it on behalf of the company.

The "swift-winged Mercuries" of the telegraph company have been hard pushed during the past few days delivering messages and election news, and one boy was actually noticed going down [illegible] street in a jog-trot yesterday.

A decree for foreclosure of mortgage for $[illegible] 50 on the residence property of Levi [illegible], at the corner of Fifth and Salmon streets, was issued by Judge Smith yesterday, in the case of Alfred Hovenden vs. Lee Knott et al.

Mr. Hale, an old resident of Powell's valley, was taken with an apoplectic fit Sunday afternoon while hunting eggs in the brush and was not found until 10 o'clock last night. He lingered until next morning when he died. He was buried in the Powell's valley cemetery.

A German named E. Bern, who came down from Salem on Monday and put up at the Oregon hotel, died in a hack while being driven from that place to St. Vincent's hospital, Wednesday. The body was taken charge of by the coroner and an inquest held. The jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease.

Prof. C. C. Maring, of the Portland Business College, whose work is attracting so much attention, has been employed by the board of directors to fill out the diplomas awarded exhibitors at the Mechanics fair. This is highly complimentary to the skill of Professor Maring and constitutes an award of merit that has been given the penman of the Portland Business College for four consecutive years.

Charles Eagle and J. Feldman, the two beauties who have been running a disreputable doggery on Salmon street, between Third and Fourth, were arraigned in the circuit court yesterday on charges of larceny and will plead to-day. They are accused of stealing and selling a trunk and contents belonging to the wife of Feldman's [illegible]. It is to be hoped that they may be convicted, as they are both essentially [illegible].

A Colonel Takes Four Fingers

[illegible]

"What colonel is that?" asked a stranger of a southern bar-keeper.

"You mean that chap that just went out?"

"Yes, that all, handsome man [illegible] I suppose, of course, he's a colonel."

"That shows how little you know about this glorious south," returned the bar-keeper. "Any body might see he is not a colonel. He is only a major. Didn't you see him drink?"

"Yes."

"Well, he only took three fingers. A colonel takes four."

PREVAILING POLITICAL EXCITEMENT.—[illegible] business in every channel of trade has received a set-back in this city, as well as elsewhere, by reason of the presidential election, which may still be considered in doubt, the most cursory observer now making a trip across the country from ocean to ocean could not fail to notice. On every hand in this city there is no one who has not time enough to ask every friend he meets, "What's the latest?" or, "How's New York?" or "Which is it, Blaine or Cleveland?" To a reporter this thing gets very monotonous when a count of the questions would carry them up into the thousands, and especially when no satisfactory news can be given in reply to the partisans upon either side. The doubt as to the result in New York kept the excitement at the highest pitch, and little else was talked of at any time during the day where two men met. Women, also, took more than the usual interest in elections, probably because of the effort made by them last June to obtain the right of suffrage for themselves, and the conversation of the parlor and the dining room partook of the same general character as the street. The sidewalk in front of THE OREGONIAN office was crowded all day long and until late in the evening reading the bulletins posted in the windows, and although there were plenty of them, and they furnished all the news possibly obtainable, still the absence of the complete returns rendered them wholly unsatisfactory. Republicans and democrats were alike confident, owing to the extraordinary closeness of the vote, and it is not at all likely that the prevailing excitement will have subsided to-day.

JOSEFFY SERENADED.—After the conclusion of Joseffy's concert at New Market theater last evening, some 45 members of the Sociable and Musical club, comprising the principal members of the musical profession in Portland, did homage to the great artist by offering him a serenade in the Turn Halle. The orchestra, which was led by Mr. J. M. Navoni, rendered in fine style "The Silver Spring Waltze," and "The Awakening of the Lion." After being presented to the different members of the orchestra, Joseffy said he was much gratified to find that so much musical talent existed in the community, and nothing could give him greater pleasure than to meet members of the profession in a social way, and he considered that it was only another proof after the large audience which greeted him at the theater to be met by gentlemen who evidently appreciated art to so great a degree, and he hoped at no far date to again have the pleasure of meeting his musical friends in Portland. Despite the inclement weather a large crowd gathered and Mr. Joseffy received a perfect ovation.

GAVE THEM A CHILL.—Since THE OREGONIAN received its new perfecting press city subscribers have been receiving their papers much earlier than before. But it was impossible to get the paper around early enough yesterday morning to meet the desires of some of its subscribers. As early as 4 o'clock anxious seekers after news from New York were out hunting around their stoops and prancing around with bare feet in the wet grass. The chill they received from this exercise was slightly surpassed by the cold water which swept down their spinal columns when they saw that the latest dispatches were favorable to Cleveland. One young man who has a federal office, while coming down town remarked to a friend: "Well, I shall go back to barbering, anyhow. It affects my chest and breaks me all up."

INJUNCTION ALLOWED FOR.—The Oregonian Railway Company (limited) yesterday filed a bill in the United States circuit court to procure a temporary injunction to prevent the O. R. & N. Co. from refusing to operate the narrow gauge system of railways, leased from the Oregonian Railway Company on the 24th inst., as the O. R. & N. Co. has given notice that they intend to do. A restraining order was issued by Judge Deady requiring the defendant to appear before him on Wednesday next to show cause why such injunction should not be granted. The plaintiff avers that the defendant is allowing the narrow gauge road to run down and become depreciated in value.

SAD CASE.—Clara Cohen, the little girl, returned to the city jail yesterday once more without a home. She had been taken in care by a lady in South Portland, who wished to adopt her as her own daughter. When the little girl learned of this she objected, and would not stay. At the jail she talked intelligently and pitifully about her situation, and of her drunken mother whom, with a true daughter's instinct, she refuses to forsake. The little girl has ideas of reclaiming her mother from her besotted condition, and hopes if she can get her into the country and away from whisky shops that she can succeed.

STEAMER GOLD DUST TO BE SOLD.—Judge Deady issued a decree yesterday in the matter of the libelation of the steamer Gold Dust ordering that said vessel, her tackle and apparel be sold at public auction free from all liens and claims at Portland on November [illegible], at 10 A. M., by the United States marshal and that the funds so realized be returned to the registry of the court to be subject to all the claims that may now attach to said vessel. The decree was made in accordance with the terms of a stipulation agreed to by counsel in the case.

LYCEUM ORGANIZED.—Quite a large number of members of Grace M. E. church, most of whom were young people, met in the parlor of the church Wednesday evening and organized a Lyceum. Following are the officers elected: President, Rev. F. W. Caswell; first vice-president, F. A. Curtis; second vice-president, Miss Ella Dickinson; secretary, Miss Libbie Dickinson; treasurer, Frank Brooks. The object of the society are to furnish entertainments of a literary and musical character, and to conduct a weekly religious meeting.

POLICE COURT.—Joe Haggarty, the opium fiend arrested for vagrancy, endeavored to prove his innocence, and claimed that he had property in California. His case was taken under advisement. The case of Lloyd Amston, another vag, was continued. Al Sing, who was found with a saddle and bridle in his possession, claimed that he found them on Third street and refused to plead guilty. His case was continued in the hope that a claimant for the saddle will be [illegible] to the front.

WHISKY SELLERS FINED.—In the United States circuit court yesterday John M[illegible] of [illegible] was arraigned on a charge of selling liquor to Indians. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10. Thomas Murphy, who hails from The Dalles, also entered a plea of guilty to a similar charge and was fined the same amount. John Cunningham, also from The Dalles, was fined $10 for the same offense.

TOOK HIS TIME.—Chas. McKay was admitted to citizenship in the state circuit court yesterday. He declared his intentions before the clerk of Jackson's territory in 1849, when Oregon was a territory. He has not been in a hurry about taking out his final papers. It may be that he is going to stand for office [illegible] to get there in time to cast his vote for president. [illegible]

FORFEITED THEIR BAIL.—In the state circuit court yesterday the bail of Chung Yen, $500, was declared forfeited. He was indicted on a charge of maliciously threatening one Sew Kon. The bail of Ah Hie was also declared forfeited. He was indicted for attempt to murder Ea Chu Keong. These fellows paid pretty dearly for what little amusement they derived from threatening and chopping.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Anyone knowing anything regarding William Prosser Johnston will be doing a charity by writing to F. F. Bevin, Woodland, California. Johnston was about 40 years old, 6 feet high, [illegible] features, light brown beard, dark hair mixed with gray. He left Grass Valley, California, Dec. 18, 1884, and was last heard of at Colfax, [illegible], August, 1884.

"Well, they [illegible] anyhow," was the explanation of the [illegible] politician.

"ULTIMATE AMERICA."

First Lecture by Rev. Joseph Cook at Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night.

A large sized audience assembled at Y. M. C. A. hall last night, despite the election excitement, to listen to the first lecture by Rev. Joseph Cook. The subject was "Ultimate America." Mr. Cook commenced by placing the present political status before his audience and pictured the struggle that now is going on between the two parties. Our country has passed through struggle after struggle, even through blood, and is not safe yet. If the political struggles of to-day are severe, what will they be when our cities are four times their present size and our population ten times that of the present. Sir Charles Dilke, who crossed our country from east to west, north to south, declared that only when he was on the Atlantic looking upon our receding shores and meditating upon his travels did he begin to comprehend the magnitude of our continent. He should have looked into the future and have endeavored to imagine what our country will be in the coming years. The area of the old countries compared with ours show the advantages we have in this direction. There are more acres in North and South America capable of being cultivated than in all Europe, Asia and Africa. The geographical features and advantages of our country were then stated in detail, and compared with those of the old countries which they far surpass. There are ten millions of acres of good soil in the old world, eleven in the new. The new world can support a larger population than the old, and probably will. It has been estimated that in the future one hundred and fifty millions will dwell upon the continent of America. If I live to be 72 years of age I expect to look upon one hundred millions of people in this country. This expectation is based upon the growth of the past 25 years. Foreign computations place the number of English speaking people of this continent of the future at eight hundred million.

We stand in awe of these probable facts. We are trustees of the great future. The brightest and best men of our generation are gone, lost in the last conflict, therefore, we who remain are to do our best, and I, for one, will never cease to do all that lies in my power to further her interests. The great mass of English-speaking people in the world are to-day in America, and yet there is more likelihood of the separation of church and state in England than that the church and state will unite in our country, more likelihood of her changing her institutions than that we may adopt hers. Having reviewed the promises of America, we will now look at the perils.

Where masses congregate crimes increase. Cities increase in population faster than the country. New York is not only the empire state in grandeur but in iniquity also. The government of New York has been for the last years a hissing and by-word.

One day we shall have a London in New York—a London in St. Louis or Chicago, one in San Francisco or Portland or Tacoma. Heaven forbid I should say which. Our seven largest cities put together do not make a population of five millions and London claims that. Americans seem to treat municipal misrule as a joke. Sound it will choke. How are we to dethrone the lords of misrule? As we put out from our midst the cancer of slavery, though it spilt our best hearts blood, so shall we thrust from us in the right time the evil of the whisky traffic, which we shall soon come to see is of equal importance. I wish all the whisky on earth was at the bottom of the sea and the whisky sellers in heaven. I would gladly repeat the reading test. The right management of our large towns will tax our future, but should they prove rebellious the country will take care of them.

Our city boys may call for a [illegible], but if he comes our country boys will throw him out. We as a people believe in the spoils system. If we do not look out it will spoil us. The government of England changes and throws out but thirty men and we want to return to first principles. Washington held office eight years and threw out but nine men. We may and must change the heads of departments when a change of government takes place, but perhaps 5,000 of the leading offices. But why should the main body of officeholders who are tried and trained men retire and a green corps take their place. The spoil system will become the curse of this country unless reformed. Never on the earth have fifty millions of people tried to govern themselves, never has one-quarter of that number succeeded in doing so.

The lecturer closed by describing in glowing and eloquent language the elements which are calculated to and which will overthrow corruption and firmly establish us as the greatest nation on earth. No report can give any idea of the beauty of language, grandeur of thought and oratorical power displayed by Mr. Cook. The above items are but the poorest fragments of the feast enjoyed. We bespeak him a crowded house to-night when he lectures on the "Seven Modern Wonders of the World."

A certain woman named [illegible] street, between [illegible] whose relations have left her with two children to take care of, has shown evident signs of insanity through [illegible] for some time past, and her condition now is reported to be bordering on the dangerous. Night before last she got up and placed a hatchet and a knife on a chair beside the floor, and told the children their father was coming home to kill them. On another occasion she locked her room door and stood behind it, hatchet in hand, declaring the devil was coming. [illegible] should be investigated by the proper authorities without further delay.

Mrs. E. B. Freeman, one of whose eyes has been destroyed as the result of a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism, underwent the operation of having that member extracted yesterday as a necessary means of saving her life. Dr. Eaton, assisted by Dr. Dav Raffety, performed the operation successfully, the patient surviving the ordeal with encouraging symptoms of its beneficial effect. The other eye, which had commenced to be affected, can now in all probability be saved, while the fever can be better allayed by the removal of this source of irritation.

There is a good joke on officer Jerelaman that may be told, as it is sure to crop out sooner or later. It appears that by a clerical error the warrant intended for Jerelaman for salary for October was drawn in favor of S. Stafford, who has been off the police force for three months. Stafford, hearing of the mistake, secured the warrant, and the cream of the joke is that he had it discounted at one bank, there being no funds in the city treasury, and "Jerd" is still in [illegible] his salary and anxiously awaiting its payment. Some one will have to pay it and it won't be the city.

MRS WILLIAM STRONG

Lucretia Robinson Strong, nee Robinson, wife of Judge William Strong, died in this city on last Wednesday night, November 5. Mrs. Strong was born in Goshen county, Connecticut, January 8, 182[illegible]. She was married in Buffalo, N. Y., October [illegible], 1840. From there she went with William Strong, her husband, to Cleveland, Ohio, where they lived until January, 1850. Her husband being appointed by President Taylor a judge of the then new territory of Oregon, they left New York in January, 1850, for their new home on the United States war vessel, Supply, and sailed around Cape Horn. They arrived in Oregon in August of the same year, and settled at Cathlamet, now in Washington territory. While living at Cathlamet she endured those hardships common to the early pioneers, aggravated by reason of her husband being compelled often to be from home in his official duties, and by the fact that the nearest white settlement to Cathlamet was at Oak Point, twelve miles away. In 1862 Judge Strong with his wife and family removed to Portland, Oregon having been admitted as a state. Judge Strong resumed at Portland the practice of the law, from which he has but lately retired. They have lived in Portland and its vicinity ever since that time.

Mrs. Strong was in many ways a remarkable woman. She came of an old New England family and had the virtues and excellencies characteristic of her ancestry. She was a woman of a strongly religious nature, and her whole life was an object-lesson on the benefits and nobility of Christianity. On her removal here in 1862 she connected herself with the First Presbyterian church of this city, of which she remained a member and an active worker until it was thought best to form the Calvary Presbyterian church. Feeling that she could help more the cause of Christianity by assisting in the building up of a new church she, as a matter of duty, left the church with which she had been so long connected and for which she had done so much, and in whose behalf she had spent twenty years of active earnest work, and gave her best endeavors to the new branch of the Presbyterian church.

Amongst all of the charitable women for which Portland is famous, there is none who has more earnestly and conscientiously done duty to the suffering and the needy. Her charitable work was done with all the delicacy which her true womanhood and Christian character dictated, and it was done with a thoroughness and lack of ostentation which made it doubly acceptable to those whom she assisted. Charity was a conscientious duty with her, but with rare skill and tact she contrived that those whom she helped should be better members of the community for it. There will be many a tear shed, many a silent prayer go up for her from those who have practical knowledge of her earnest, quiet Christian charity.

Mrs. Strong, being a true womanly woman, has done nothing which has made her prominently known to the general public, but her death, although not unexpected, has been a source of great grief to all old residents of Portland. She leaves surviving her, her husband, her sons Dr. Curtis C. Strong, F. R. Strong and T. N. Strong, well known lawyers of Portland, W. J. Strong, a merchant of The Dalles, and two daughters, the Misses Strong. In every walk of life, as wife, mother, friend and Christian, she did her duty well. She has left the noble heritage of a good name. She has won to herself the crown incorruptible which fadeth not away. Her life was not in vain. The world is better for her having lived. Of her it can be truly said: "Her children will rise up and call her blessed." H.

JOSEFFY

What shall we say of this wonderful artist who appeared last night for the first time in our city, before a large house? The audience was not only astonished, but actually amazed and bewildered. All knew that they never heard such thoroughly delightful interpretations. The variety of these selections, the perfect composure and finish of his performance, of the music and the exceeding elegance with which each was invested with its own character, were as remarkable as any pianist has ever done in public, and the many recalls were certainly merited. Joseffy's great qualities are a marvelous force and a delicious technique combined with great power and breadth of conception. It is impossible to conceive greater perfection in piano playing, which gives more enjoyment and has more charms than that of any artist of the present day. Beyond a doubt the audiences will be even larger to-night and to-morrow matinee, when the [illegible] will prevail.

To-night's program is as follows:

ROBUST OREGON NEWS

The democratic dailies of San Francisco were supplied with campaign "news" from this state during the last two weeks of the canvass by a special correspondent. Here are a few items by [illegible] in which [illegible] superlatives [illegible]

EXAMINER, NOV. [illegible]

PORTLAND, Nov. [illegible].—The democrats closed their campaign to-night with a monster demonstration at the opera house and an overflow meeting in the streets. United States Senator Slater, ex-senator J. K. Kelly, General Elling[illegible] and others spoke. Judge J. W. Whalley, a life-long republican, presided, as chairman of the meeting at the opera house. Henry M. [illegible] and J. J. Quackenbos, two life-long republicans, spoke. Ex-Attorney General Williams was invited to speak at a republican meeting, but refused to respond, and will vote for Cleveland. There were fully 4,000 people at the democratic meeting, while there were but 150 at the republican meeting. Oregon is certain for Cleveland.

[illegible], NOV. [illegible]

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. [illegible].—The Scandinavian republicans of this state have issued an address to the people to be published in the [illegible] to-morrow morning, warning them against the custom house postoffice ring, and advising the people to vote against the ring. This address has been forced by the republicans. Its appearance creates much dismay. The half-breeds are [illegible] Conkling and J. H. Mitchell for [illegible]

Hon. H. Suderdorf, [illegible] for Cleveland, and [illegible] addresses to the Germans. He is very popular.

"Say? Why, I told him I couldn't be so cruel as to burden him with a third hand, when he didn't know what to do with the two he already had—the awkward booby!"

GEN. ANDERSON'S REPLY

He Denies the Statements of Henry Villard Concerning Northern Pacific Construction

A Formidable Showing of Figures to Prove that Anderson's Estimates were not at Fault

Gen. Anderson, chief engineer of the Northern Pacific, makes a detailed reply to Mr. Villard's charge that he was misled by too low estimates of the cost of the road by the engineering department. Gen. Anderson shows that his estimates were substantially accurate, and that the apparent under-estimate arises from comparison of his figures with totals containing items he was not required to provide for. The latter has a value as a contribution to the history of the building of the Northern Pacific, though it lacks the dramatic interest of Villard's address. It is as follows:

In a pamphlet recently issued by you entitled "Statement to the Stockholders of the Northern Pacific Railroad," are certain assertions that differ so widely from the actual facts that I must call your attention to them. Inasmuch as the above-named statement has been given very wide circulation in this country and in Europe, you cannot but recognize the propriety of giving equal publicity to this communication, particularly when the pamphlet states that the difference between certain estimates of mine and a certain sum quoted by you, is "the true key to and the sole cause of your (the stockholders) and my (your) disappointments, and of the reverses that have overtaken the Oregon and Transcontinental company and me (yourself) personally." You quote correctly the figures of an estimate made by me in November, 1880, and properly omitting the part which was irrelevant, you take up the figures for Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain and Clark's Fork divisions. The total length of these divisions was stated in the estimate at 8[illegible] miles, and the cost at $20,773,900. What did this estimate actually embrace? It was for building the road from Glendive on the Yellowstone river to the east end of the Pend d'Oreille division near the present Kootenai station, on the north shore of Lake Pend d'Oreille. So little was correctly known of the country that the distance estimated at 8[illegible] miles was reduced in construction to 77[illegible] miles. That this estimate proved too low to build and equip this section of 770 miles is true; but had the conditions continued which existed when it was made, and the general plan been carried out, the estimate was sufficient to have built and equipped that section, although it would have taken a year or more longer time to complete than was actually consumed, and the road would not have been the thoroughly constructed and admirably equipped picture it now is.

DETAILS OF THE ESTIMATE.

You also quote the summary of an estimate made by me Jan. 12, 1882, amounting to the total sum of $21,001,[illegible]00. The details of that estimate as they appear in my memorandum book under date of Jan. 11, 1882, are as follows:

Division	Miles	Cost	Per mile
Yellowstone	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rocky Mountain	1[illegible]0	[illegible]	[illegible]
Clark's Fork	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pend d'Oreille	[illegible]	41[illegible],000	[illegible]
Portland	[illegible]	1,[illegible]00,000	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]
Bismarck bridge		[illegible]
Snake river bridge		[illegible]
Total		[illegible]

What did this estimate embrace? It was to complete the road from end of track at the east, then at Horton station on the Yellowstone, ninety miles above Glendive, to a point in Idaho about three miles west of the foot of Lake Pend d'Oreille. It also included cost of building Portland division in Oregon, cost of completing Bismarck bridge, and cost of building a wooden bridge with wooden crib work across Snake river at Ainsworth. Let us now examine the result. The Yellowstone division remained at its original length, while the new Missoula division was constructed of twenty-two miles of Rocky mountain, and 1[illegible] miles of Clark's Fork division. As the Portland division is still uncompleted and the amount expended upon it has been less than the estimate, it is unnecessary to consider it here. The estimate also covered the cost of completing Pend d'Oreille division—about ten miles of track—with some buildings, at a cost of $[illegible],000. It is impossible to separate this amount from the total cost of the division, but the sum estimated was entirely ample. The estimate for the main line covered a distance that, owing to incomplete surveys, was estimated at 710 miles, but in construction was reduced to 680 miles.

EXPENDITURES FOR CONSTRUCTION.

The auditor's books show the following expenditures for construction on these divisions from January 1, 188[illegible], from which time the estimate practically was made, to December 31, 188[illegible]. The late assumed in our settlement:

[illegible]

or an "under-estimate" of a little over 10 per cent. What were the causes of the increased cost? On the Yellowstone division the high bluffs, which you doubtless recollect having characterized in the summer of 1882 as "appalling," after exposure to the cold winter of 1881 commenced disintegrating and falling upon the track. An expenditure of over $[illegible] was made during the season of 1882 in widening the dangerous [illegible]. The Yellowstone [illegible] in estimate [illegible] was ample except for the wholly unexpected expense required upon the above grading. The Rocky Mountain division was estimated to cost $33,700 per mile. December 31, 1883, it had cost $31,402 04 per mile. The Missoula division, estimated partly at $33,700 per mile as part of the Rocky Mountain and $[illegible],270 per mile as part of the Clark's Fork division, had cost to December 31, 1883, $[illegible],037.74 per mile. Clark's Fork division estimated at $2[illegible] cost $[illegible]7 47 per mile.

Estimated cost [illegible]	$[illegible]
Actual cost	[illegible]

Actual cost over estimate ... $[illegible]

There is a little [illegible] of the [illegible] of the actual increased cost of the [illegible] attention is respectfully called to the fact that in the fall of 1881 you, as president, appointed a supervising engineer of western divisions, a gentleman who at the time was a total stranger to me, and also employed a superintendent of construction to build the first 1[illegible] miles of Clark's Fork division.

IN DIRECT COMMUNICATION WITH THE PRESIDENT.

The supervising engineer, while nominally subordinate to the engineer-in-chief, communicated directly with the president and was clothed with the same power in all than all matters as the engineer-in-chief. [illegible] divisions and all construction expenses were directed and paid at Portland, and these amounts did not come under my supervision or notice. One of the first acts of the supervising engineer was to dismiss the division engineer who had built the first [illegible] from Ainsworth, which has been estimated to cost $[illegible] per mile, while its total cost to December 31, 188[illegible] had been but $2[illegible] per mile. THE BISMARCK AND SNAKE RIVER BRIDGES.

The apparent additional cost of Bismarck bridge was caused by including in its cost the approaches—four miles of new railroad—which legitimately belonged in the main road. The estimate for Snake river bridge was made for a wooden structure throughout, before the regimen of the river was at all understood, and it was afterward deemed wiser to build an iron bridge 1[illegible] feet long, with masonry piers sunk to the rock, and the railroad now has there one of the best iron bridges on this continent. We will now examine the figures quoted on page 22 of your pamphlet, as follows: "Including all work commenced and finished under my administration, the cost of completing and equipping the main line was as follows:

New construction proper, with all appurtenances	$[illegible],000 00
Renewal of old line	3,324,1[illegible] 46
Equipment	[illegible],072,656 98
Total	$42,[illegible]0,79[illegible] 44

The auditor of the railroad company is unable to identify those figures by his books, nor has any officer been able to find them in place. The nearest approach is as follows: Expenditures from July [illegible], 1881, to December [illegible], 1883, for two and a half years in which "construction includes the work done on all divisions under construction during that time, viz.: Wisconsin, Missouri, Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain, Missoula, Clark's Fork, Pend d'Oreille, Columbia River, Portland and Cascade Branch divisions, or 1[illegible] miles of road, also Bismarck bridge, etc.

Equipment includes all provided for main line and branches over 2400 miles of road.

	By Auditor Books	By Villard Pamphlet	Differences
Construction, improvements & betterments on old road	[illegible]	$[illegible],000 00	[illegible]
Equipment	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Totals	$43,0[illegible]	$42,[illegible] 44	[illegible]

TOTAL EXPENDITURES.

It therefore appears that the total expenditures for construction on over 1200 miles of road, together with other large expenditures outside that limit, and also the expenditures for equipment for over 2400 miles of completed road, were combined together and to their sum was added $[illegible] from "improvements and betterments" on old road east of Missouri river, and all were united into one total of $[illegible] 06. Then by some occult mode of calculation it is deduced that the difference between the estimate of November, 1880, to build 770 miles of road and this sum of $39,607,[illegible] was an "under-estimate of over 90 per cent.," and that the difference between the second estimate of January 12, 1882, and the same sum of $39,607,656 98 was an "under-estimate of nearly 50 per cent." Why this sum of $39,607,65[illegible] was selected to compare with either or both of those estimates it is wholly impossible, at least for me, to conceive. It bore no relation to or had any connection whatever with either of the estimates, and the latter might with equal propriety been compared with any figures greater than their own sum—the capital stock of the company, for instance, or even the national debt of the United States—and thereby a far larger "under-estimate" have been discovered. My estimates were clear, distinct and specific, and it seems incredible that they should mislead any one who examined them with any care. Having thus shown the actual facts, I now call upon you, sir, to retract the erroneous and misleading statements in your pamphlet as publicly and as widely as you have given them currency.

REVOLUTIONARY EXECUTION

How Washington Hung Some Men and Reprieved Others.

In 1823 there was published in Boston a journal kept by Dr. James Thacher, who was surgeon in the Continental army during the revolution. This journal covers the whole period of Dr. Thacher's service, and contains many interesting anecdotes. Among them the following, under date of May 23, 1779, in camp about three miles from Washington's headquarters at Morristown, will serve to show how discipline was preserved in the Continental army:

"Eleven soldiers are condemned to death for various crimes, three of whom are sentenced to be shot, the whole number were prepared for execution this day, but pardons were granted by the commander-in-chief to those who were to have been shot, and to seven others while under the gallows. This was a most solemn and affecting scene, capable of torturing the feelings even of the most callous breast. The wretched criminals were brought in carts to the place of execution. Mr. Rogers, the chaplain, attended them to the gallows, addressed them in a very pathetic manner, impressing on their minds the heinousness of their crimes, the justice of the sentence and the high importance of a preparation for death. The criminals were placed side by side on the scaffold, with halters round their necks, their coffins before their eyes, their graves open to their view, and thousands of spectators bemoaning their doom. The moment approaches when every eye is fixed in anticipation of beholding the agonies of death—the eyes of the victims are already closed from the light of this world. At this awful moment, while their fervent prayers are ascending to Heaven, an officer comes forward and reads a reprieve for seven of them by the commander-in-chief. The trembling criminals are now divested of the implements of death, and their bleeding hearts leap for joy. How exquisitely rapturous must be the transition when snatched from the agonizing horrors of a cruel death, and mercifully restored to the enjoyment of a life that has been forfeited! No pen can describe the emotions which must have agitated their souls. They were scarcely able to remove from the scaffold without assistance. The chaplain reminded them of the gratitude they owed the commander-in-chief for his clemency towards them, and that the only return in their power to make was a life devoted to the faithful discharge of their duty. The criminal who was executed had been guilty of forging a number of discharges, by which he and more than a hundred soldiers had left the army. He appeared to be penitent, and behaved with uncommon fortitude and resolution. He addressed the soldiers, desired them to be faithful to their country and obedient to their officers, and advised the officers to be punctual in all their engagements to the soldiers, and give them no cause to desert. He examined the halter, and told the hangman that the knot was not made right and that the rope was not strong enough, as he was a heavy man. Having adjusted the knot and fixed it round his own neck, he was swung off instantly. The rope broke, and he fell to the ground, by which he was very much bruised. He calmly reascended the ladder and said: 'I told you the rope was not strong enough; do get a stronger.' Another being procured he was launched into eternity."

Oysters for Dyspepsia

It is not as generally understood as it should be that oysters have medicinal qualities of a high order. They are not only nutritious, but wholesome, especially in cases of indigestion. It is said "there is no other alimentary substance, not even excepting bread, that does not produce indigestion under certain circumstances, but oysters never." Oyster juice promotes digestion. By taking oysters daily indigestion, supposed to be almost incurable, has been cured. In fact, they are to be regarded as one of the most healthful articles of food known to man. Invalids who have found all other kinds of food disagree with them frequently discover in the oyster the aliment. Raw oysters are highly recommended for hoarseness. Many of the leading vocalists use them regularly before concerts and operas, but their strongest recommendation is the remarkably wholesome stuff [illegible] exerted upon the digestive organs.

Overland receipts [illegible] bbls pork [illegible] 10 bbls syrup, 60 pkgs tobacco, [illegible] sks coffee, [illegible] sisal grass, 32 pkgs plates.

As concerns the markets there is really little doing. The past six days have included the usual Sunday and election day. The last attracted the attention it was expected to and being followed by great uncertainties still diverts attention from trade. The produce lines have shown less activity as compared with the previous week and values are not materially changed. Shipping circles continue very active, the cleaning up of spot tonnage [illegible] the week with sales of a number of cargoes [illegible] unloading, making an aggregate large business. The late spot charters are accounted for by a desire to load cheap ships with medium priced wheat to average up on high priced ships. At this time the se[illegible] is weak but sales were largely effected before Wednesday's decline. There does not seem to be the local pressure to sell that has lately been observed for operators report lessened offerings even at outside figures. This is thought to be largely temporary as money [illegible] needed in the interior and wheat is the only product that sells readily. With next week offerings are expected to assume full and free proportions although receiving prices may be less satisfactory. Shippers, if not fully supplied, anticipate no difficulty in securing all needs. They have worked slowly but with considerable caution all season, generally having cargoes provided for arrivals. The freight market is lower and late arrivals have included vessels with 52s 6d freights. This would indicate a loss to shippers. Local wheat prices being but little changed in the face of declines abroad. To average up is now in order but there appears very little chance of success. Compared with last season a much safer business has been done with a repetition of the old business avoided. All reports indicate light trading in hops which product is now second in importance. On the spot one can hear of very little being done while trading at the yards is said to show more activity. Other products are in limited business as indicated in the regular report.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Last 24 hours [illegible] wheat 1120 bbls flour 440 ctls oats [illegible] ctls bran 268 ctls millstuff, [illegible] sks potatoes [illegible] lbs hides 6 cs eggs 25 660 lbs hops 451 bxs fruit 15 pkgs butter. Also 15 540 ctls wheat, 100 bbls flour 1111 ctls oats 316 ctls bran, [illegible] lbs wool 2950 lbs hides, 1100 sks flaxseed [illegible] butter from the eastern section.

Receipts for seven days ending Wednesday [illegible] ctls wheat, 11 031 bbls flour [illegible] ctls oats [illegible] ctls barley, 4853 ctls bran, 1201 ctls millstuff, 250 sks potatoes, 18 157 lbs wool, 16 500 lbs hides, 183 cs eggs, [illegible] pkgs butter, [illegible] bxs fruit, 15 sks flaxseed, [illegible] bbls lime, [illegible] 17 lbs hops.

FREIGHTS—Arrivals for the week were the Havelock, [illegible] Markham, Woodfield, Mary Hinsdale, Gwen, Dorkling, Scottish Chief and [illegible] prior charters ranging from 40s to [illegible]. The Carrie Winslow ... [illegible] spot charters were the W[illegible] and [illegible] for orders [illegible] with the last vessels available at the [illegible] named as a nominal quotation for new, the market being decidedly weaker since last [illegible]. The arrivals noted have not exceeded the total tonnage en route, but not materially as three will be added to the list. The loading fleet have received considerable attention although the number of charters was small. At San Francisco the market has ruled weak, with a light spot business.

WHEAT—Off coast cargoes suffer a decline [illegible] over last Thursday and California for prompt shipment is [illegible]. Chicago is [illegible] lower. San Francisco quotations are unchanged, but the market to-day has a lower tendency. Our own market has been [illegible] local trading and extreme quotations are less often realized. Offerings have fallen off; it is thought temporarily. Transactions have not been frequent, the majority of buyers refusing to bid above our inside quotation. Of the [illegible] the larger portion has been in the interior. Declining freights has helped sustain wheat [illegible] but this influence is hardly likely to obtain for any length of time, and as San Francisco [illegible] our market [illegible] must go over the foreign markets, [illegible] to be an important price factor [illegible] discouraging one. We quote valley at [illegible] 1 12½, Walla Walla $1 0[illegible] with the inside prices generally offered by buyers.

The aggregate supply of [illegible] in sight in the United States [illegible] of California and Oregon and Canada Oct. 25 was 31 910 000 bushels and that of corn 6 149 000 bushels, [illegible] against [illegible] during [illegible] weekly exhibit an aggregate of [illegible] bushels wheat and [illegible] bushels corn [illegible] year ago an aggregate [illegible] bushels wheat and 11,288 8[illegible] bushels corn.

FLOUR—There continues good call for best brands and stocks [illegible] very even. It is probable that a vessel [illegible] loaded with flour. Some from the [illegible] is going to San Francisco [illegible]. We quote [illegible] others $3 50@4[illegible].

MILLSTUFFS—The movement is fairly [illegible] on export account. Local dealers have fair stocks and jobbing prices are firm at [illegible] bran $16@17[illegible] chop $20@22 50, middlings $[illegible], shorts $[illegible], ground barley $24@25.

OATS—Receipts have lost nothing in volume and most of the supply has gone to San Francisco. Sales in a local way [illegible] have been [illegible], holders demanding full prices and buyers taking only for needs. Choice to extra choice feed quoted [illegible] common to good 30@[illegible].

POTATOES—[illegible] local needs and receipts [illegible] for round lots are not over 30@35c per bushel. [illegible] may be quoted [illegible] are liberal.

ONIONS—The ruling price is still [illegible] jobbing out at 1@1½c.

PROVISIONS—No change in values. A good business is done [illegible] stocks [illegible] for. Quote city cured hams [illegible]@16[illegible], breakfast bacon [illegible], shoulders 11c, eastern bacon [illegible], hams [illegible] country cured hams [illegible]@[illegible]c lower. Lard in good call and weak. Quote eastern small tins [illegible] local kegs and 40 lb tins 11½@12c. Local pails of choice, 12½@13c.

DRIED FRUITS—Dull and slow. Quote sun-cured apples [illegible], factory [illegible], [illegible] plums, 8@10c, peaches 10c, [illegible] raisins $1 50 per full box.

CHEESE—[illegible] factory selling out at 16c, other kinds 12[illegible].

GREEN FRUIT—Market shows no material change. The receipts is more than met by offerings but choice bring full prices and [illegible] for sale. For apples 50@75c is quoted and for pears 40@60c. Grapes in small trading at $1 [illegible] for common kinds.

TROPICAL FRUITS—In limited trading. Quote lemons $6 50@7, limes $1 [illegible], bananas $3 [illegible], cocoanuts at [illegible] oranges about 6c each.

VEGETABLES—Cabbage selling at 1 [illegible] celery [illegible] per sack.

BUTTER—Some [illegible] rolls [illegible] obtainable at 35c. Local choice [illegible] fair 20@25c, eastern table [illegible].

HAY—No difficulty in continuing all [illegible] at $[illegible] as to kind and [illegible].

POULTRY—Chickens show an improvement over this week, receipts having greatly fallen off. Quote young, $2 [illegible], old, $4 [illegible]. Turkeys nominally 12c. Ducks, $[illegible]@5 [illegible]. Geese dull at $[illegible].

EGGS—S[illegible] at 40c with light stocks and [illegible] that has quickly absorbed arrivals. This price can be realized only through small arrivals.

HOPS—Almost nothing being done in this market. Holders of choice parcels ask 18@20c and buyers offer [illegible]@16c, but would pay 17c for desirable lots. Purchases from the Sound section report 17c [illegible] paid [illegible]. Advices are meager and unsatisfactory. New York mail dates report "Late cable advices indicate [illegible] feeling abroad and shippers are not disposed to operate at current quotations. Brewers have purchased only sparingly and the general market has ruled quiet, but holders are not anxious sellers and maintain firm views. We quote prime to [illegible] low to fair [illegible] low to [illegible]."

WOOL—Nothing doing in a local way and the movement is very limited. New York mid-[illegible] report: "There has been no improvement in demand and [illegible] if any change in the tone of the market, the [illegible] election continuing to absorb the [illegible] attention. The limited purchases reported have been made on the same [illegible] basis heretofore noticed and holders have been unable to effect sales beyond the current requirements of consumers. The [illegible] for fine [illegible] the coming though some of the better grades [illegible] territory have [illegible] with considerable advance. The movement of new fall [illegible] has been slow at the primary markets, growers and buyers being too far apart in their views to admit of much business. Dealers, however, have [illegible] owing to the [illegible] supply of [illegible] the amount [illegible] of the fall [illegible] grades [illegible] sale and [illegible] in price."

The Merchandise Markets.

Incoming freights by rail and by steamer have [illegible] of fair proportions and the distribution ...

in nothing out of ordinary. Values have shown no material change. The call from the interior is of a quiet cautious character, buying being largely restricted to needs.

The San Francisco market for last week is summarized as follows: "Teas are steady and firm with but a moderate trade reported. The local coffee trade [illegible] transactions [illegible] Java is [illegible] weaker [illegible] quotation [illegible] export. The low [illegible] considerable activity [illegible] being neglected. Syrup [illegible] selling but slowly owing to some extent to the quantity of [illegible] eastern offering and to the unusually large [illegible] honey with which the market is supplied and which at the prevailing low prices causes it to be preferred to syrup in some cases. The rice market presents considerable activity. New native China is a shade weaker. The present stock of China is about [illegible] 000 mats. Hawaiian is [illegible] with a moderate business. [illegible] and allspice are lower. Trade in Columbia river salmon is entirely of a jobbing character. Holders of choice packs are firm in their demand for full figures, feeling confident that the stock will be nearly exhausted before the opening of next season. California canned fruits are in good demand and there is a steady movement eastward. In some descriptions of fruits the stock is light, particularly peaches and apricots and there is a [illegible] tendency in prices."

LOCAL QUOTATIONS

BEANS—Quotations are [illegible] pinks 4c, butter 4[illegible] small white [illegible] bayos [illegible].

CALIFORNIA

SCHOONER WRECKED AND LIVES LOST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 6.—News has been received that the schooner Wild Gazelle was wrecked at the Choumagin islands on October 14. Her master and owner, Capt Lawson, and fifteen of the crew out of eighteen, were lost. The schooner was fitted out at this port for a codfishing cruise, and left here October 1.

PERSONAL.

D. F. Leahy, formerly of Portland, Oregon, has superseded E. H. Painter as reporter of the Merchants' Exchange commercial reports of this city.

[Special.]—Dr McKinnell and Miss Hawkins have established themselves at the Tamalpais hotel at San Rafael for a few weeks, and later they will go to the southern part of the state.

Mr. Jackson of Portland will remain in the city till the end of the year, and then expects to visit Chicago before returning home.

A. L. Stokes is at the Palace and will remain a week or ten days.

The Portland steamer got in at noon to-day.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

Arrived—Steamer Oregon, Polemann, 78 hours from Portland, via Astoria 70 hours, passengers and merchandise, to O. R. & N. Co. Departure—Steamer Walla Walla, De Wolf, Seattle.

IN WALL STREET

The Market Closes with a General Decline—Quotations.

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—Government bonds firm; railways were and generally lower. State bonds quiet. During early hours of business the stock market was weak and depressed, on a reduction in passenger rates to Chicago to $15 by the New York Central, and on reports that the Pennsylvania road had decided to meet cuts of other trunk lines, and on the unfavorable showing of the earnings of some of the leading railroads for October. A special drive was made against Union Pacific by the bears and room traders, and that stock broke from 51¼ to 48. Pacific Mail fell off 2 per cent, to 48¾; Northern Pacific preferred [illegible] to 41; Western Union 2 to 58; Lackawanna 1⅝ to 100¾; Missouri Pacific 1⅝ to 89¾; New Jersey Central 1⅛ to 8[illegible]; Northwestern 1¼ to 84¼; St Paul 1¼ to 74⅜, and the general list ½ to 1 per cent. Subsequently there was a rally of ½ to 2 per cent, Union Pacific, Pacific Mail, Northern Pacific preferred, Western Union, New York Central and the grangers leading. Union Pacific returned to 50, Pacific Mail to 49[illegible], Northern Pacific preferred to 42, Western Union to 58[illegible], New York Central to 84[illegible], Northwestern to 84½, and St Paul to 74¾.

In the afternoon speculation was quiet, and prices were firmly held. Near the close the shorts made another demonstration and under large offerings the market declined rapidly. In some stocks the lowest figures of the day were current. At the close there was a fractional rally. Compared with last night's closing, prices are ⅝ to 4¼ per cent. lower, except for Rock Island, which is 1 per cent. higher at 111[illegible]. Lackawanna sold at 98½, seller 60, when the price in the regular way was 101[illegible]; Union Pacific 50, when the price in the regular way was 51½; Pullman Palace at 107, when the regular price was 110; Lake Shore sold at 65¾, seller 30, when the price in the regular way was 64⅞.

MONEY, BONDS AND STOCKS

Money advanced to 2½ and closed offered [illegible]. Prime paper, 5@6. Exchange, bills, $4 80 demand, $4 8[illegible].

Bonds—3s, 100[illegible]; 4½s, 112¼; 4s, 122; Pacific 6s, 125.

Stocks—American [illegible] 93, Canada Pacific 4[illegible], Canada Southern 28¾, Central Pacific 36[illegible], Burlington 17, Lackawanna 100⅜, Denver & Rio Grande 8, Erie 1[illegible], Hannibal & St Joe [illegible], Kansas & Texas 15, Lake Shore 6[illegible], Louisville & Nashville 24½, Michigan Central 51, Northern Pacific 17½, Preferred 41½, Northwestern 84⅝, New York Central 83⅞, Oregon Navigation 65, Transcontinental 12[illegible], Improvement 15, Pacific Mail 49⅝, Panama 93, Rock Island 101[illegible], St. Paul 74[illegible], Texas Pacific [illegible], Union Pacific 48¼, United States 51, Fargo 10[illegible], Western Union 58[illegible].

Petroleum was firm at 73½.

MINING SHARES

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—At the mining board prices were well maintained, and except in the case of Horn Silver, which sold ex dividend, a stronger tone was noticed. Towards the close [illegible] was in demand at $4 00. Standard was [illegible] at [illegible] 00. Spring Valley was quiet at $1 00. Union Consolidated was steady at 80. Sierra Nevada was in demand at 75, Eureka was better at $3 15. Robinson 3[illegible], Bodie higher at $2 1[illegible], Chollar [illegible] 5, Horn Silver lower at $5, O. & M. [illegible], Barcelona fell off 7c.

ACCIDENTS.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION WITH GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

READING, Pa., Nov 6.—The dynamite works of H. W. Stump & Co, three-quarters of a mile from Stoutsburg, a village of 500 inhabitants, blew up this afternoon, shaking up the country a distance of twenty miles. The works consisted of five frame buildings, the timbers of which were sent flying in all directions, nothing remaining but the foundation. Three men in the buildings were killed. Such a case of explosion was never before known. The names of the killed are Frank Seitz, married, aged 30, Frank Kapp, 21, single, and Joseph Krans, aged 25, single. Windows were broken in many houses in Stoutsburg, people were knocked off their feet, mirrors and pictures shaken from the wall, and a church and several houses unroofed. The victims were literally blown to atoms.

At Robeson, ten miles from Stoutsburg, a number of Masons were working at the bottom of Ferguson & Co's furnace stack relining it with fire brick. The stack was probably 130 feet high and the work was nearly completed. Some say fifteen men were in the stack, some at the bottom and others on a scaffold above. Just as the shock of the explosion was felt the stack quivered and there was a rumbling noise followed by a great deluge of bricks, completely burying six men at the bottom of the stack. If they were not instantly killed they will be burned to death, as the stuff is burning, and they cannot be reached. The names of the buried men are Joe Weinrich, F. Spangler, Henry Stott, Fred Ko[illegible]enn, David Parsons and Joseph Reed. Four other others were wounded.

The excitement is intense. Crowds of people including wives and children of the unfortunate men, surrounded the stack. The loss to the company cannot be estimated to-night.

THREE MEN BLOWN TO ATOMS.

READING, Nov 6.—By an explosion in a dynamite mill near Robesonia this afternoon, three men were blown to atoms and a neighboring building was badly shaken.

THE FIRE RECORD.

TOWN BURNED AND SEVERAL LIVES LOST.

DENVER, Nov 6.—A Silver Plume special says: The entire business portion of this town was burned this morning. The streets are filled with crowds of excited, homeless people. Several lives were lost. One body so far has been recovered. The loss will reach $100,000. Silver Plume is a small mining camp of a few hundred inhabitants, three miles west of Georgetown. The exact amount of loss of life and property is impossible.

Additional particulars are received this evening. Fire was first discovered at 1 o'clock this morning in the rear of Dumont's saloon. Before any organized effort could be made the flames were beyond control, and in an incredibly short time forty of the principal buildings, comprising the entire business portion of the town, were in ruins. The fire department of Georgetown was called on for assistance, and their efficient service saved the residence portion of the town. Park Barrett, an old resident, perished in the flames. He was addicted to drink. His charred remains were found in the ruins of his cabin. It is believed the fire was the work of an incendiary. The losses are estimated at from $100,000 to $200,000. The insurance is estimated at $55,000. Individual losses and [illegible] at present are unobtainable.

RAILROAD NOTES

ANOTHER CUT IN RATES

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The New York Central ticket offices in this city to-day began selling first-class tickets to Chicago for $15, and second class for $11.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov 6.—The Pennsylvania railroad company has inaugurated a cut in its rates to meet those made by the New York Central and the West Shore roads.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 6.—The announcement made in New York that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is cutting rates to meet similar cuts by the New York Central, is denied in most emphatic terms, at the Pennsylvania railroad office here.

WILL PAY A DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, Nov 6.—The New Jersey Central announces that the transfer books of the company will be closed from November [illegible] to December [illegible] for the payment of the guaranteed quarterly dividend of [illegible] after December 1.

REDUCED RATES TO NEW ORLEANS.

CHICAGO, Nov 6.—The general passenger agents of roads running south met here to-day and made round trip rates to the New Orleans cotton centennial exposition, from leading cities in the northwest, on a basis of $[illegible] for the round trip from Chicago.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

[illegible], Nov 6.—About 4 30 o'clock this afternoon Mrs Gardiner, wife of Dr. Schuyler Gardiner, formerly of Jefferson county, New York, shot her husband and young child, both through the head, killing them instantly. Taking up the dead child she carried it across the street to a neighbor's house and left it, and calling to her neighbor to come over and see her husband, whom she had killed, returned to her own house and shot herself through the temple. She will die. It appears her husband lost property a short time ago, which made him morose and sullen. He accused his wife of infidelity, and this seems to have unbalanced her mind. At the time of the shooting he was bidding her good-bye, preparatory to going to Rock Falls, Illinois, and it is supposed she thought he was going to desert her.

SHOT HIS WIFE AND THEN HIMSELF.

JERSEY CITY, Nov 6.—B Haas, German real estate agent, shot his wife to-day, at their home on Union hill, and then shot himself. Haas died almost instantly but the wife still lives. Haas and wife quarreled frequently. At 10 o'clock this morning Haas, who had been away all night, returned home grossly drunk.

A CHANGE.

BOSTON, Oct 6.—Counsel for the receiver of the Pacific National bank, in a suit against some 400 stockholders of the bank, to enforce assessment liability, stated that the case had been withdrawn from jury trial, and would be heard by court.

CONVALESCING.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Oct 6.—Congressman John Arnold is rapidly improving, and may be out in a few days. The report of his dangerous condition is untrue.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Nov 6.—North Pacific region, local rains and partly cloudy weather. California, fair weather, except the extreme northern portion, which will have local rains and partly cloudy weather.

DR. LIEBIG'S WONDERFUL German Invigorator

Men suffering from disease and weakness brought on by early imprudence or excesses, causing nervous debility, premature decay, lost manhood, etc., having tried in vain every known remedy should immediately procure DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2.

THE DOCTOR will agree to forfeit $1000 for a case undertaken not cured. The reason why so many can not get cured of weakness and the above diseases is owing to a complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hyperæsthesia, which requires special treatment. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR NO. 2, under his advice and special treatment, is the only positive cure for PROSTATORRHEA.

DR. LIEBIG & CO. for the past nineteen years have made an exclusive specialty of the treatment of diseases of men.

If pimples appear on the face, if you become timid and despondent, look out for the complications of Seminal Weakness and loss of Vitality known as Spermatorrhea. Hundreds of lives have been lost and thousands have lost their property and pleasure in life from its effects. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR NO. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication, and a perfect and permanent cure is guaranteed in all cases undertaken under our special advice and treatment.

Most powerful electric belts free to patients.

To prove the wonderful power of the INVIGORATOR a $2 BOTTLE GIVEN FREE.
